BLACK, but then a caption appears: "PART I (COMEDY) - 1598".

Fade up to:

1. INT/EXT. THEATRE. DAY.

Centre-stage, an OLD MAN with white hair, white beard and an enormous stomach takes a bow and THE AUDIENCE applaud wildly.

The OLD MAN looks at the back of the stage, where another ACTOR is standing, and beckons him forward: THE ACTOR shakes his head but the OLD MAN keeps beckoning him.

Slowly THE ACTOR comes forward and the AUDIENCE applaud him even more wildly than they had applauded the OLD MAN.

THE ACTOR, who is about 35, bows and for the first time his thinning hair, beard and ear-ring in his left ear are visible.

TWO MEN - one fat and 45, the other thin and 22 - stand at the side of a stage, wearing stage "armour" and holding spears.

FAT MAN:

Good old Will. He's done it again.

THIN MAN (nodding in agreement):

He always does. Rare is the Shakespeare failure.

Like everyone else, on stage and off, they continue to applaud THE ACTOR taking a bow - WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE.

2. INT. BACKSTAGE, THEATRE. DAY.

As ALL THE ACTORS come off-stage, the FAT MAN collects their costumes while the THIN MAN counts the takings from the show.

FAT MAN (to an ACTOR DRESSED AS A LORD):

Costume, please.

ACTOR DRESSED AS A LORD:

Oh, come on, Mister Hemings. Can't I have a drink first?

THE FAT MAN - JOHN HEMINGS - looks at him angrily.

No!

ACTOR DRESSED AS A LORD:

Why not?

HEMINGS:

Because like every other actor I've ever met, you'll have one drink, then another and then, before you know it, you'll be mewling and puking like an infant, and my beautiful robes will be ruined. So, costume now - please!

ACTOR DRESSED AS A LORD (glumly):

Very well.

The ACTOR starts undressing and looks across at the THIN MAN.

ACTOR DRESSED AS A LORD:

How are the takings, Mister Condell?

The THIN MAN - HENRY CONDELL - doesn't look up but keeps counting.

CONDELL:

Excellent! Audiences adore Falstaff.

HEMINGS (smiling):

Just as they love Romeo and Juliet, loathe Shylock and laugh at Bottom!

The ACTOR laughs, but CONDELL just keeps counting.

The OLD MAN comes off stage and removes his wig and false beard, then the cushion from under his tunic, to reveal he is actually only about 35, and has a muscular frame and red hair.

SHAKESPEARE comes up behind him and slaps him on the back.

SHAKESPEARE:

Richard, you are Falstaff! No-one else can ever play him!

BURBAGE:

I'm not sure whether that's an insult or a compliment.

SHAKESPEARE (smiling):

BOTH!

ALL THE PLAYERS, including BURBAGE himself, laugh.

BURBAGE:

Now, where are the refreshments? I need a drink!

MAN (VOICE OFF):

Is that wine?

EVERYONE, including BURBAGE, turns round to see who has spoken: standing by the door is an OLD MAN dressed in black, including black skull-cap, who is looking at THE PLAYERS with contempt.

Still clutching the wine bottle, BURBAGE goes towards him.

BURBAGE:

Allen! What are you doing here? You're not allowed backstage.

ALLEN:

It's my land that you're standing on, Burbage, and I can go wherever I want on my property!

He looks at the bottle in BURBAGE's hand.

ALLEN:

Now, I asked you a question - is that wine? (He says the word "wine" as if it were the word "excrement".) I've told you before - all of you - that drinking wine, or any other alcohol, is forbidden on these premises.

HEMINGS leans in towards SHAKESPEARE and whispers to him.

HEMINGS:

Damn Puritans! Always spoiling other people's fun!

SHAKESPEARE nods in agreement.

BURBAGE (to ALLEN):

But it's our first performance.

ALLEN (smiling):

No, it's your last performance. Or at least one of them.

ALL THE ACTORS look at him in amazement.

SHAKESPEARE:

What does that mean?

ALLEN (still smiling):

It means that I am terminating your tenancy with immediate effect.

Now ALL THE ACTORS look at him in disbelief.

BURBAGE:

What? You can't do that!

ALLEN (beaming):

I can, and I am.

SHAKESPEARE:

But why?

ALLEN:

For continually flouting the terms of the lease by drinking on the premises - (TO BURBAGE) - and staging plays that celebrate drunks and sinners, like that fat oaf Falstaff!

Both SHAKESPEARE and BURBAGE look offended.

ALLEN:

That's why I'm giving you one month's notice to quit!

ALL THE ACTORS look stunned.

BURBAGE:

A month? But that's barely enough time to remove the seats and stage.

ALLEN (smiling):

Oh, you don't have to worry about removing them - I'll be keeping them!

THE ACTORS look horrified.

BURBAGE:

You can't do that! The lease says we have permission "to take down any buildings that we might erect".

ALLEN:

Oh, does it?

BURBAGE (firmly):

Yes, it does.

ALLEN:

Well, we can discuss the matter further in court - if you can afford a lawyer!

He laughs and turns back towards the door.

ALLEN:

Goodnight - (He stops and corrects himself.) I was about to say "Gentlemen", but of course you're not "Gentlemen", are you?

He looks at them all disdainfully.

ALLEN:

No "player" could ever be a gentleman!

BURBAGE:

We ought to run him through!

HEMINGS steps between BURBAGE and the door, blocking his path.

HEMINGS:

No, Richard. That way we'll end up in court contesting a murder charge rather than the terms of a lease.

BURBAGE (angrily):

No court would convict us!

HEMINGS:

Why? Because society has such a high opinion of players?

He looks at him questioningly, then shakes his head.

HEMINGS:

Of course not. They use us for their "entertainment" and then, when they've had it, they get rid of us. (He looks round at ALL THE OTHER ACTORS solemnly.) 'Twas ever thus - 'twill be ever thus!

ALL THE ACTORS look utterly miserable.

3. INT. TAVERN. DAY.

HEMINGS, CONDELL, BURBAGE and SHAKESPEARE sit by a window in a tavern, slowly sipping ale while outside snow falls.

SHAKESPEARE:

So what do we do?

BURBAGE:

Why, we move, of course! That's what we always do! (He laughs.) That's why we're called travelling players!

SHAKESPEARE:

But where to?

HEMINGS:

I have an idea.

SHAKESPEARE, BURBAGE and CONDELL all look at him expectantly.

Yes, John?

HEMINGS:

I have a neighbour who recently inherited a plot of land on Bankside.

"Bankside"?

HEMINGS:

Yes - beside the river! I'm sure we could lease it from him. (Grinning.) It's perfect! There's lots of space and he'll charge less rent than Allen does. To be honest, I was going to suggest we move there before Allen evicted us.

He looks at them all intently.

HEMINGS:

Now we have no choice.

BURBAGE:

But the Rose is on Bankside. We'd be cutting our throats if we moved next door!

HEMINGS:

Not necessarily. Bankside is big enough for two theatres, especially if one of them is showing Shakespeare's plays!

SHAKESPEARE looks both embarrassed and flattered.

HEMINGS:

Besides, Bankside is where the audience is.

CONDELL:

Exactly! It's where all the bear-pits and brothels are!

They all laugh.

BURBAGE (to HEMINGS):

Would your neighbour really lease the land to us?

HEMINGS:

I'm sure he would. He has no use for it himself.

BURBAGE:

And what kind of lease are we talking about?

SHAKESPEARE:

Yes. How long?

HEMINGS (smiling):

Oh, about thirty years.

SHAKESPEARE:

"Thirty years"?

HEMINGS (nodding):

At least! We could stake our whole future there!

SHAKESPEARE looks thrilled but BURBAGE looks troubled.

BURBAGE:

There's a problem.

HEMINGS:

What's that?

BURBAGE:

We have no stage, or seats! Allen won't let us take them.

For a moment, there is silence around the table.

HEMINGS (excitedly):

I have another idea!

4. EXT. STREET OUTSIDE THE THEATRE. DAY.

It is obviously a few days later: the snow has settled and SHAKESPEARE and BURBAGE are standing in several inches of it.

BURBAGE:

Where are they? I'm freezing!

SHAKESPEARE:

Don't worry about John and Henry - they're the most trustworthy men I know. They'll be here shortly.

HEMINGS (VOICE OFF, calling out):

HELLO!

SHAKESPEARE and BURBAGE both turn and look down the street and see HEMINGS and CONDELL, in fur coats and hats, in the front of a horse-drawn cart that is being driven by a THIN, GREY-HAIRED MAN, and the back of the cart is full of WORKMEN.

The cart stops beside the theatre and HEMINGS leaps down.

HEMINGS (to SHAKESPEARE and BURBAGE):

This is the man I told you about -

He indicates the THIN MAN, who climbs down from the cart.

HEMINGS (with a flourish):

Mr Peter Street, the finest theatrical carpenter in London
- the man who built The Rose!

BURBAGE:

It's one thing to build a theatre: another to take it down again!

STREET (with a shrug):

It's not so different: it's the same process, just in reverse.

BURBAGE considers this, then nods to concede the point.

SHAKESPEARE (to HEMINGS):

I don't doubt that he can take the theatre apart, but can he do it quickly? We only have a few days while Allen is away for Christmas, visiting his relatives.

BURBAGE:

A Puritan Christmas? That'll be merry!

They all laugh, even STREET.

STREET:

We can do it - and quickly!

He turns to address his WORKMEN.

STREET:

Come on, boys - let's take her apart!

THE WORKMEN climb down, carrying hammers, chisels and saws, and follow STREET towards the theatre - all except TWO BIG MEN.

SHAKESPEARE notices them and nudges HEMINGS.

SHAKESPEARE:

What are they doing?

HEMINGS:

Oh, they have different tools...

THE TWO BIG MEN begin unloading clubs and axes from the cart.

HEMINGS:

...In case Allen comes back early!

HEMINGS laughs and goes towards the theatre: SHAKESPEARE watches THE TWO MEN start to arm themselves, then quickly follows HIM.

5. INT/EXT. THEATRE. NIGHT.

SHAKESPEARE and CONDELL watch as STREET and some of his WORKMEN start taking up planks from the stage itself.

SHAKESPEARE (admiringly):

They're working fast.

CONDELL:

They ought to be. We're paying double their usual rate!

"Double"?

CONDELL (with a shrug):

Well, it is Christmas.

SHAKESPEARE groans.

6. EXT. THE STREET OUTSIDE THE THEATRE. NIGHT.

SHAKESPEARE looks in the back of the cart and sees that it is full of planks and benches: HEMINGS, who is sitting in the front of the cart and holding the reins, calls down to him.

HEMINGS:

The first load's ready, Will. We should get going.

Right.

SHAKESPEARE climbs in and sees CONDELL below, waving up at him.

CONDELL:

Godspeed!

The horse starts walking slowly down the street - very slowly.

SHAKESPEARE (to HEMINGS):

We're hardly making any speed, let alone "Godspeed"!

HEMINGS stares at SHAKESPEARE.

HEMINGS:

Stop complaining and enjoy the ride.

SHAKESPEARE looks even more miserable.

7. EXT. RIVERBANK. NIGHT.

SHAKESPEARE tries to huddle up to HEMINGS for warmth, but suddenly HEMINGS sits up straight and pulls hard on the reins.

WHOAH!

SHAKESPEARE also sits up with a start as the horse stops.

HEMINGS:

There it is.

SHAKESPEARE:

My God! You were right.

HEMINGS:

Our very own bridge across the Thames, direct to Bankside!

THEIR POINT OF VIEW: directly ahead of them is the river Thames - and it is frozen over.

There are A LOT OF PEOPLE on the ice: SOME walking; OTHERS sliding (on sledges or their bottoms); and SOME ice-skating.

SHAKESPEARE:

Are you sure it can take our weight?

HEMINGS:

Of course it can. There are hundreds of people on it already!

SHAKESPEARE:

"People", yes, but not horses - and certainly not horses pulling carts laden with timber!

He looks along the river and in the distance he sees London Bridge, the only bridge across the river, which is lined with houses and shops, and full of people on foot and horseback.

SHAKESPEARE:

Why don't we just use the real bridge?

HEMINGS (sighing):

I've already told you: it's too far away and too crowded, even at night, with all the shops and houses on it, let alone the traffic. It would take an age just to get a single cartload across. We'd never get everything out of the theatre and across the river before Allen comes back from his holiday!

He looks back at the ice.

HEMINGS:

This is the only way.

SHAKESPEARE also looks back - nervously - at the ice.

Alright. Proceed!

HEMINGS snaps the reins and slowly the horse moves forwards, before stopping right at the edge of the frozen river.

HEMINGS (calling out):

GO ON!

The horse puts one foot forward into the air.

8. EXT. THE FROZEN RIVER THAMES. NIGHT.

The horse carefully puts its foot down on the ice.

Then it walks forward and puts down another foot, then another, until finally all four of its feet are on the ice.

It walks forward, pulling the cart onto the ice: as it does so, SHAKESPEARE leans out of the cart and looks down at the ice.

SHAKESPEARE:

It's holding! It's taking our weight!

HEMINGS:

What did I tell you? (Beaming.) Like the Good Lord himself, we're walking on water!

SHAKESPEARE laughs and looks around in amazement, seeing CHILDREN playing 'tag', a MAN walking his dog and a CROWD gathered around food stalls, from some of which steam rises.

SHAKESPEARE:

Stay away from the stalls selling hot food!

HEMINGS (nodding):

Don't worry - I will!

HEMINGS takes the reins in one hand and points with the other.

There's the Rose!

About 500 yards away on the other bank is The Rose Theatre, its thatched roof towering above the nearby houses and taverns.

HEMINGS (pointing again):

And there's our new home!

About 500 yards along from The Rose is the only empty plot of land on the riverbank, which is otherwise teeming with PEOPLE.

SHAKESPEARE looks at it, then looks back at HEMINGS and smiles.

9. EXT. THE SITE OF THE NEW THEATRE. DAY.

HEMINGS and SHAKESPEARE sit on a pile of timber covered with canvas to stop it getting wet: they are surrounded by about 20 similar piles of timber, each one similarly covered with canvas.

They look across the ice and see CONDELL and BURBAGE in the cart: CONDELL driving and BURBAGE shivering beside him.

CONDELL drives up onto the bank, then leaps down to tie up the horse to the bench that HEMINGS and SHAKESPEARE are sitting on.

CONDELL (indicating the back of the cart):

That's almost everything.

BURBAGE:

Only the walls are left - and they come down today!

THE OTHERS all laugh as HEMINGS looks around the site.

HEMINGS:

It's not much now, but one day it will be the finest theatre in London.

BURBAGE (smiling):

They all laugh.

HEMINGS:

Most importantly, it will be our theatre.

BURBAGE:

Exactly. We won't have to answer to anyone else.

CONDELL:

Except the censor!

They all smile, ruefully.

SHAKESPEARE:

How long will it take to build?

HEMINGS:

Oh, about six months.

SHAKESPEARE (looking shocked):

Six months?

HEMINGS:

At most!

SHAKESPEARE:

Why so long? It only took a few days to take it down.

HEMINGS (smiling):

Because it will be bigger, better and grander than any theatre ever built - as befits Shakespeare's theatre!

SHAKESPEARE looks proud, then worried.

SHAKESPEARE:

But what will we do for six months? We'll starve!

HEMINGS:

It's alright, Will. We've negotiated a temporary lease with The Curtain theatre while construction's going on.

CONDELL:

Everything is arranged. All you have to do is write!

HEMINGS:

Yes. More masterpieces, please!

They all laugh, even SHAKESPEARE.

SHAKESPEARE:

I have only one remaining wish.

HEMINGS:

Oh, yes? And what's that?

SHAKESPEARE:

I wish I could see old Allen's face when he returns from his Christmas holiday.

BURBAGE (smiling):

That would be worth seeing!

They all roar with laughter.

10. EXT. THE STREET OUTSIDE THE THEATRE. DAY.

A smiling ALLEN walks towards the theatre, or so he thinks.

Suddenly he stops smiling and stops walking.

HIS POINT OF VIEW: Where, days before, there had been a theatre, there are now only a few nails lying on the ground in the snow.

ALLEN looks at them in disbelief: he even screws up his eyes and opens them again, in a double-take.

Then he looks behind him, as if he has somehow walked past it.

Finally he screams.

CONSTABLE!!!!

Fade to:

BLACK.

A caption appears: "THE NEW THEATRE WAS CALLED 'THE GLOBE', AS SHAKESPEARE'S PLAYS WERE SAID TO CONTAIN 'ALL THE WORLD'."

Another caption replaces it: "PART II (HISTORY) - 1601".

11. INT. BACKSTAGE OFFICE, THE GLOBE THEATRE. DAY.

SHAKESPEARE sits at the desk in the backstage office of The Globe, quill in hand: it is a tiny room stuffed with props and costumes, and through the door (which is slightly ajar) The Globe's thatched roof can just be seen.

A young BOY - dressed as a sheep, complete with woolly head-dress, ears and tail - runs up to the door.

BOY:

Master Shakespeare, Sir?

SHAKESPEARE (without looking up):

BOY:

There's someone to see you, Sir. Someone important.

SHAKESPEARE:

Who is it?

A nobleman, Sir.

SHAKESPEARE finally looks up at him.

SHAKESPEARE (smiling):

A nobleman in a playhouse? Are you sure he doesn't want the bawdy house next door?

SHAKESPEARE keeps smiling, but the BOY just looks confused.

BOY:

No, Sir. He says he wants to see you.

SHAKESPEARE:

And which particular "nobleman" is dignifying us with his presence?

The Earl of Southampton, Sir.

SHAKESPEARE immediately stops smiling and looks very grave.

SHAKESPEARE:

Tell him I'm coming.

Yes, Sir. Right away, Sir.

The BOY runs back out, his woollen "tail" bobbing behind him: SHAKESPEARE sighs heavily, puts down his quill and follows him.

12. INT/EXT. THE STAGE, THE GLOBE THEATRE. DAY.

SHAKESPEARE walks out onto The Globe's stage and sees a YOUNG MAN standing at the front of the stage, looking out: he is handsome, exquisitely dressed and aged about 30, with black curly hair and a neatly trimmed moustache and beard.

At the back, staring at the YOUNG MAN are a "SHEPHERD" and "SHEEP": in reality, an ACTOR with a shepherd's crook and BOYS dressed as sheep, including the BOY who had summoned Shakespeare.

SHAKESPEARE (to the "SHEPHERD"):

Feed your flock.

The "SHEPHERD" leads off the "SHEEP" and some "BAA" as they go: hearing this, the YOUNG MAN turns round and sees SHAKESPEARE.

YOUNG MAN (smiling):

I always wanted to be a player.

SHAKESPEARE joins him at the front of the stage.

SHAKESPEARE:

That's funny - I always wanted to be a Gentleman!

The YOUNG MAN laughs.

YOUNG MAN:

It's a pleasure to see you, Will.

SHAKESPEARE:

And it's an honour to see you, my Lord.

SHAKESPEARE bows deeply and the YOUNG MAN - THE EARL OF SOUTHAMPTON - looks pleased by this show of obeisance.

Then SOUTHAMPTON looks out from the stage again: at the ground (or "Groundlings" area) in front of the stage, which is for the poorest theatregoers; then up at the seats above, which are for the wealthier patrons; and finally up at the thatched roof, forming a "wooden" (or more precisely "straw") 'O', through which the sky is visible.

SOUTHAMPTON:

The Globe is a magnificent theatre, Will. It's much bigger - and grander - than the one you had in Shoreditch.

He looks back at SHAKESPEARE.

SOUTHAMPTON:

You're obviously doing very well for yourself.

SHAKESPEARE:

I survive, my Lord, which is all one can aspire to in these mean times.

SOUTHAMPTON (smiling):

They are "mean" indeed, with the war continuing in Ireland and the threat of war in England.

SHAKESPEARE:

There is no threat of war here, Sir.

SOUTHAMPTON looks at him in surprise.

SOUTHAMPTON:

With an ageing Queen and no heir, what else can there be but the threat of war?

SOUTHAMPTON laughs, but SHAKESPEARE looks a little nervous.

SHAKESPEARE:

I heard that you yourself were in Ireland, my Lord.

SOUTHAMPTON (nodding):

That's right. I was there for three years, serving under the Earl of Essex - "the General of our Gracious Empress", as you so memorably christened him in "Henry the Fifth".

SHAKESPEARE suddenly looks embarrassed.

SHAKESPEARE:

Unfortunately, my Lord, as he is no longer her "General", I had to cut that line.

SOUTHAMPTON looks upset, even offended, before smiling again.

SOUTHAMPTON:

Yes, Essex is being excised in all kinds of ways, which is why I wanted to see you, Will.

SHAKESPEARE:

Me, my Lord?

SOUTHAMPTON:

Yes, you Will. (He smiles at SHAKESPEARE broadly.) I want to commission a special production in honour of my noble Lord Essex.

SHAKESPEARE looks even more nervous.

SHAKESPEARE:

Of which play, my Lord?

SOUTHAMPTON looks shocked.

SOUTHAMPTON:

Why, "Richard the Second", of course? What other play is as relevant to our troubled time?

SHAKESPEARE:

Perhaps that is why it has been banned, my Lord - or at least a certain part of it.

SOUTHAMPTON:

You mean the dethroning scene, where Richard hands over his crown?

SHAKESPEARE (nodding):

I do. (He smiles, thinly.) The Queen and her advisers, especially Lord Cecil, do not want any depiction of a sovereign surrendering their crown, not with the uncertainty surrounding the succession.

SOUTHAMPTON (angrily):

I don't care! I want to commission a production of "Richard the Second", complete with dethroning scene, for a week today!

SHAKESPEARE looks at him in amazement.

SHAKESPEARE:

"A week today", my Lord? Why, even if we could perform "Richard", we would need more than a week to prepare!

SOUTHAMPTON:

Nonsense! Your men have all performed the play before. It won't take them long to refresh their memories.

SHAKESPEARE takes a deep breath.

SHAKESPEARE:

May I ask why you want to see that play in particular, my Lord? There are many other plays that we could perform in honour of the Earl of Essex.

SOUTHAMPTON (angrily):

No! It must be "Richard".

He looks imploringly at SHAKESPEARE.

SOUTHAMPTON:

Don't you see, Will? It is about Essex!

SHAKESPEARE:

Is it, my Lord?

SOUTHAMPTON:

Of course it is! (Pause.) It is the story of a vengeful, despotic ruler who is corrupted by their advisers and consequently robs the nobles of their titles, just as the Queen has been corrupted by Lord Cecil and robbed the Earl of Essex of his title of vice-regent.

He sighs, heavily.

SOUTHAMPTON:

That is why we want to honour the Earl. By staging a performance of "Richard the Second" in front of an audience of veterans -

SHAKESPEARE (interrupting, nervously):

"Veterans", my Lord?

SOUTHAMPTON:

Yes, of the Irish war. By staging it in front of an audience of veterans who served under Essex, along with other followers of the Earl, we will stir them all to petition the Queen.

SHAKESPEARE (even more nervously):

To do what, my Lord?

SOUTHAMPTON:

To release him from house arrest, restore his title of vice-regent and reinstate him as heir to the throne.

SHAKESPEARE:

I fear you overestimate the importance of the theatre, my Lord: it can only represent, or recreate, history, not alter it.

SOUTHAMPTON (firmly):

I want you to do this, Will. I need you to do it.

SHAKESPEARE:

I am not sure I can, my Lord. I am eager to help you, and my Lord Essex, but if I stage "Richard the Second" with the dethroning scene, I may find myself upon the rack.

SOUTHAMPTON:

And if you do not stage it, you may find yourself stretched out in the gutter!

My Lord?

SOUTHAMPTON:

Do you forget the debt you owe me, Will?

SHAKESPEARE looks embarrassed, even ashamed.

SHAKESPEARE:

No, my Lord. (Pause.) I could never forget.

SOUTHAMPTON:

I am glad to hear it. After all, it is quite a debt.

SHAKESPEARE:

I know, my Lord.

SOUTHAMPTON:

Six years ago, when you were struggling to make a living in plague-ridden playhouses, I gave you shelter. I gave you a commission then, to write your "Sonnets" -

SHAKESPEARE (interrupting):

It was your family who commissioned the "Sonnets", my Lord, in your honour.

SOUTHAMPTON (angrily):

Don't quibble, Will! Even if my family paid for the "Sonnets", I myself gave you the money to help you build your theatre!

He looks around The Globe again, then back at SHAKESPEARE.

SOUTHAMPTON:

The Globe is a fine theatre, Will - the finest in England - and I paid for it.

SHAKESPEARE:

Only in part, Sir. I earned the rest and the other players invested money too.

SOUTHAMPTON (angrily):

In full, Will! (Pause.) If I hadn't helped you when you were at your lowest ebb - if I hadn't been your patron! - you'd be back in Stratford on Avon now making gloves for a living!

SHAKESPEARE looks humbled, even humiliated.

SOUTHAMPTON (lowering his voice):

The money I gave you, Will, was a gift - a favour - and now I simply want you to repay the favour.

SHAKESPEARE looks frightened.

SHAKESPEARE:

And if I do not, or cannot?

For a moment, SOUTHAMPTON looks surprised.

SOUTHAMPTON:

Then I will have to demand repayment of the money I have given you, in full, with interest - immediately!

SHAKESPEARE looks mortified.

SHAKESPEARE:

I cannot pay you back that amount, Sir, not immediately.
You know I can't.

SOUTHAMPTON:

Then do as I ask, Will. Please? For both our sakes!

SHAKESPEARE again looks around The Globe, obviously trying to buy himself some time while wondering what to do.

SHAKESPEARE (quietly):

I would have to persuade my business partners.

SOUTHAMPTON:

Your "business partners"?

SHAKESPEARE (nodding):

Yes, the co-owners of The Globe: Mister Hemings and Mister Condell, the company managers; and of course Mister Burbage, our leading man. Then, if I can persuade them, I would have to persuade the men - the players - themselves.

SOUTHAMPTON smiles, confidently.

SOUTHAMPTON:

I have no doubt you can do it, Will. You could persuade the lamb to lie down with the lion!

SOUTHAMPTON laughs, but SHAKESPEARE just looks very serious.

SHAKESPEARE:

We'll need paying.

SOUTHAMPTON (nodding):

Of course. That goes without saying. I will pay handsomely!

SHAKESPEARE:

And the production will only be for your guests - Irish "veterans" and other followers of the Earl - and not the general public.

SOUTHAMPTON (continuing to nod):

Of course.

SHAKESPEARE:

Finally, and most importantly, if any of the Queen's men should appear we will stop performing immediately, or at least drop the dethroning scene.

SOUTHAMPTON (nodding furiously):

Agreed.

SHAKESPEARE takes another deep breath.

SHAKESPEARE:

Then I will do my best to arrange it.

SOUTHAMPTON stares at him, seemingly overcome with emotion.

SOUTHAMPTON:

Thank you, Will, thank you. (Pause.) I thank you, my noble Lord Essex thanks you and in time England will thank you!

SHAKESPEARE:

It will be thanks enough, my Lord, if you discharge me - once and for all, in a document to be signed and notarised by a lawyer - of my "debt" to you.

SOUTHAMPTON (nodding):

I will do it. Happily!

Smiling broadly, he looks around The Globe once more.

SOUTHAMPTON:

God, I love the theatre! As you yourself said: "All the world's a stage!"

SHAKESPEARE (quietly, to himself):

"And all the men and women merely players..."

13. INT. BACKSTAGE OFFICE, THE GLOBE THEATRE. DAY.

SHAKESPEARE is sitting back down at his desk and HEMINGS, CONDELL and BURBAGE are standing opposite him, shaking their heads.

HEMINGS:

We can't perform "Richard the Second" - at least not with the dethroning scene.

CONDELL:

If the Queen or any member of the Privy Council - especially Lord Cecil! - finds out, we will be killed!

BURBAGE:

Or worse - sent to the Tower!

HEMINGS and CONDELL laugh ruefully, but BURBAGE looks at SHAKESPEARE quizzically.

BURBAGE:

Why does Southampton even want a performance of "Richard the Second", "complete with dethroning scene"?

SHAKESPEARE hesitates for a moment before answering.

SHAKESPEARE:

It is in honour of the Earl of Essex.

BURBAGE:

"The Earl of Essex"? But he's under house arrest for treason.

SHAKESPEARE (nodding):

I know.

SHAKESPEARE looks away, as if he is embarrassed - or guilty.

SHAKESPEARE:

Southampton wants to stir Essex's followers, including his former soldiers, to petition the Queen.

CONDELL (looking alarmed):

To do what?

SHAKESPEARE:

To restore Essex's title of vice-regent and reinstate him as the heir to the throne.

CONDELL looks as if he might collapse in shock.

CONDELL:

The Queen won't give in to any "petition"!

SHAKESPEARE:

I know. I told Southampton that. But he didn't care.

He looks at them all in desperation.

SHAKESPEARE:

He *demand*s that I do as he asks.

HEMINGS, CONDELL and BURBAGE look horrified.

HEMINGS:

Perhaps we - the rest of the company -

He looks at BURBAGE and CONDELL.

HEMINGS:

- could find the money to repay him.

BURBAGE (nodding):

Yes. We could all help you to repay him.

CONDELL nods in agreement but SHAKESPEARE shakes his head.

SHAKESPEARE:

No. It is typically kind of you all to offer, but no player, or even an entire company of players, could find such a large sum at such short notice.

HEMINGS:

But this -

He stares at SHAKESPEARE.

HEMINGS:

This is pulling the dragon's tail! You risk everything!

SHAKESPEARE:

I know, but I have no choice. (Once again, he takes a deep breath.) I owe him and I have to repay him. And this is the only way I can do it.

HEMINGS (emphatically):

Then I'll do it too!

SHAKESPEARE looks at HEMINGS in disbelief.

SHAKESPEARE (incredulously):

What? Why?

HEMINGS:

For one thing, you can't play all the parts yourself!

SHAKESPEARE laughs.

HEMINGS:

For another, I owe you.

SHAKESPEARE looks at him questioningly.

SHAKESPEARE:

You don't owe me anything, John.

HEMINGS (equally emphatically):

Yes I do! Without you, I would still be a part-time actor and grocer, rather than a part-owner of the greatest theatre company in England - nay, the world!

He imitates BURBAGE's deep, gruff voice and THE OTHERS laugh.

Then he stares at SHAKESPEARE.

HEMINGS:

I owe you everything, Will - my career, my fortune,
everything!

HEMINGS looks at BURBAGE and CONDELL.

HEMINGS:

We all do.

BURBAGE and CONDELL both nod.

BURBAGE (to SHAKESPEARE):

That's right, Will. Without you, I would never have been Richard the Third, or Henry the Fifth, or Falstaff!

CONDELL:

And I would still be a humble fishmonger!

SHAKESPEARE laughs.

HEMINGS:

We all owe you for making us what we are. That's why we'll help you to discharge your debt to Southampton, once and for all.

SHAKESPEARE looks at them all warmly and smiles.

SHAKESPEARE:

Thank you - all of you.

Suddenly he stops smiling and looks very serious.

SHAKESPEARE:

I told Southampton the production will only be for Essex's supporters - his "veterans" - and not the general public.

HEMINGS (nodding):

Good. That will make it easier to keep it quiet.

SHAKESPEARE:

I also told him that if any of the Queen's men should appear, we will stop performing immediately, or at least drop the dethroning scene.

CONDELL (nodding):

Absolutely!

SHAKESPEARE looks at them questioningly, even sceptically.

SHAKESPEARE:

Now we just have to persuade the men.

HEMINGS (brusquely):

"The men"? (Pause.) Hang the men!

SHAKESPEARE looks at him in surprise.

SHAKESPEARE:

"Hang them"?

HEMINGS (nodding):

Aye. They'll do what we say or they can find another company.

He smiles at SHAKESPEARE.

HEMINGS:

There are plenty of other companies in London, but there's only one Shakespeare - and they know it!

SHAKESPEARE looks simultaneously flattered and nervous.

14. INT. THE WINGS OF THE GLOBE THEATRE. DAY.

SHAKESPEARE and HEMINGS, in make-up and costume as "John of Gaunt" and "The Duke of York", peer out from the wings.

THEIR POINT OF VIEW:

The Globe (or at least the Groundlings' area in front of the stage) is filling up with an AUDIENCE that is exclusively male and mostly made up of pock-marked, battle-scarred WAR VETERANS.

HEMINGS:

My God! There's a whole army out there!

Literally!

HEMINGS looks shocked, but SHAKESPEARE does not notice as he watches SOUTHAMPTON take his seat above the Groundlings' area: he is flanked by TWO GUARDS and as he sits down he acknowledges SOME AUDIENCE MEMBERS standing directly below him.

SHAKESPEARE:

Southampton has obviously recognised some old friends.

HEMINGS (scornfully):

They're not "friends": they're just men who fought under him and Essex in Ireland. They serve him - just as we do!

SHAKESPEARE looks shocked, but HEMINGS looks away.

Then a trumpet sounds to announce the start of the play.

HEMINGS:

We are summoned.

SHAKESPEARE nods, then he, HEMINGS and THE OTHER ACTORS in the first scene, including BURBAGE, go on to a huge round of applause.

15. INT/EXT. STAGE, THE GLOBE THEATRE. DAY.

SHAKESPEARE, as "John of Gaunt", sits in a chair, looking sickly and HEMINGS, as "The Duke of York", is listening to him carefully.

SHAKESPEARE (as John of Gaunt):

"This royal throne of kings, this sceptred isle,
This earth of majesty, this seat of Mars,
This other Eden, demi-paradise,
This fortress built by nature for herself
Against infection and the hand of war,
This happy breed of men, this little world,
This precious stone set in the silver sea,
Which serves it in the office of a wall
Or as a moat defensive to a house,
Against the envy of less happier lands,
This blessed plot, this earth, this realm, this England."

SHAKESPEARE pauses and sees ALL THE MEMBERS OF THE AUDIENCE staring up at him intently, including A MAN WITH JUST ONE EYE.

He is almost thrown by this sight, but manages to continue.

SHAKESPEARE (as John of Gaunt):

"This nurse, this teeming womb of royal kings..."

16. INT. THE WINGS OF THE GLOBE THEATRE. DAY.

SHAKESPEARE, HEMINGS and CONDELL watch as BURBAGE (playing King Richard) and AUGUSTINE PHILIPS (fresh-faced, about 30 and playing the rebel, Bolingbroke) confront each other on stage.

SHAKESPEARE (whispering):

This is it - the dethroning scene.

HEMINGS (also whispering):

Pray God it's not the last scene we play!

SHAKESPEARE looks at HEMINGS in horror but HEMINGS looks out at the stage: SHAKESPEARE also looks back at the stage.

As he does so, SHAKESPEARE sees SOUTHAMPTON standing up and willing the actors on - indeed, SOUTHAMPTON mouths the lines as the actors speak them - and he looks astonished.

17. INT/EXT. THE STAGE, GLOBE THEATRE. DAY.

BURBAGE removes the crown from his head.

BURBAGE (as King Richard):

"I give this heavy weight from off my head."

18. INT. THE WINGS, GLOBE THEATRE. DAY.

HEMINGS whispers in SHAKESPEARE's ear.

HEMINGS:

The Queen won't give up her throne, if that's what they're hoping!

Once again, SHAKESPEARE looks at him in shock.

19. INT/EXT. THE STAGE, THE GLOBE THEATRE. DAY.

BURBAGE (as Richard) lies in a coffin in the centre of the stage, while PHILIPS (as Bolingbroke) weeps over him.

PHILIPS (as Bolingbroke):

"I'll make a voyage to the Holy Land
To wash this blood off from my guilty hand.
March sadly after."

The stage empties and for a moment the theatre is totally silent: then there is applause, followed by a series of loud cries.

AUDIENCE MEMBERS (together):

God save our Gracious General!

OTHER AUDIENCE MEMBERS (together, even louder):

God save the Earl of Essex!

Finally, a cry is taken up by THE WHOLE AUDIENCE.

AUDIENCE (AS ONE):

GOD SAVE THE KING!

20. INT. THE WINGS OF THE GLOBE THEATRE. DAY.

SHAKESPEARE and ALL THE OTHER ACTORS watch in disbelief from the wings as THE AUDIENCE continue to applaud, cheer and chant.

SHAKESPEARE (to HEMINGS):

Should we take a bow?

HEMINGS (shaking his head):

No. It's not us they're applauding. It's Essex - and he's not here to take a bow.

Finally, the chants and the cheers begin to die down.

SHAKESPEARE and THE OTHER ACTORS again peer out from the wings and see SOUTHAMPTON'S GUARDS standing beside the exit and putting coins in the hands of the VETERANS as they leave.

HEMINGS:

It's the first time I've seen an audience being paid, rather than paying, to attend a play.

CONDELL (nodding):

It explains their enthusiasm.

Suddenly SOUTHAMPTON appears, accompanied by SEVERAL OTHER WELL-DRESSED NOBLES, each one grinning as broadly as he is.

SOUTHAMPTON heads straight for SHAKESPEARE and shakes his hand.

SOUTHAMPTON:

Thank you, Will. Thank you.

Then he turns to address ALL THE OTHER ACTORS.

SOUTHAMPTON:

Thank you all! You were wonderful - just wonderful!

SOME OF THE YOUNGER ACTORS look flattered but THE OLDER ONES, like BURBAGE and HEMINGS, do not.

SOUTHAMPTON turns back to SHAKESPEARE and takes out a letter from his pocket that is wrapped in a bright red ribbon.

SOUTHAMPTON:

And by way of thanks, Will, here is that letter you sought, signed and notarised by a lawyer, discharging you of all debts to me.

SHAKESPEARE takes the letter and stares at it for a moment.

SHAKESPEARE:

Thank you, my Lord.

SOUTHAMPTON:

And here - (A NOBLE comes forward with a bag bulging with coins) - is the final payment for the rest of you. I think that you will find it exceeding generous! But you have earned every penny.

CONDELL takes the bag, but almost drops it as it is so heavy.

SOUTHAMPTON:

Thank you once again, from myself and my Master. It was marvellous - all that we had hoped for!

He smiles at THE OTHER NOBLES, before addressing THE ACTORS.

SOUTHAMPTON:

After such an exhilarating performance, we are emboldened!

He and THE OTHER NOBLES depart as quickly as they had come: as they leave, HEMINGS leans in towards SHAKESPEARE and whispers.

"Embaldened" to do what?

SHAKESPEARE looks at him nervously.

21. INT. STUDY. DAY (EARLY MORNING).

A TALL, RED-HAIRED MAN dressed all in white stands by the window, looking out at the River Thames: slowly, he turns to reveal that he is wearing a scabbard with a sword in it.

He stares at THE MEN who have assembled in his study: SOUTHAMPTON; THE OTHER NOBLES who had been with SOUTHAMPTON at The Globe; and SEVERAL BATTLE-SCARRED VETERANS who had also been at The Globe.

RED-HAIRED MAN (to SOUTHAMPTON):

How was the performance?

SOUTHAMPTON (smiling):

Magnificent, my lord! It rallied the troops wonderfully!

He beams at the RED-HAIRED MAN - THE EARL OF ESSEX.

SOUTHAMPTON:

Having seen a monarch surrender power on stage, they are ready to see one surrender power for real!

THE OTHERS all laugh, even ESSEX.

ESSEX:

They have seen that there is a precedent for what we do.

SOUTHAMPTON (nodding):

Indeed, my Lord.

ESSEX:

Like Bolingbroke, our cause is just. That is why we will triumph.

Indubitably!

ESSEX:

It would be treason not to act. After all, if I do not claim the throne, who will? Scotland? France?!

SOUTHAMPTON:

Even Spain! Where the Armada failed, so-called "diplomacy" may prevail.

ESSEX (angrily):

That cannot happen.

No. It cannot.

Suddenly ESSEX looks at them all questioningly.

ESSEX:

Once we leave this room, there is no going back. The Queen will have me hung, drawn and quartered just for evading "house arrest", let alone "plotting" against her, as her so-called "advisers", especially Cecil, will no doubt describe it. And the same is true for any man who helps me (Pause.) If any of you want to leave - to abandon me - go now. Otherwise, you must stay the course.

No-one moves, so ESSEX smiles.

ESSEX:

Good. Then let us claim what is ours!

He goes out and is followed by THE OTHERS: as they leave, they step over THE SOLDIERS who had obviously been keeping ESSEX under "house arrest" but who are now tied up on the floor.

22. EXT. ESSEX'S COURTYARD. DAY (EARLY MORNING).

ESSEX stands on the steps of his house and addresses the 300 or so VETERANS of the Irish war who have assembled in the courtyard.

ESSEX:

Men, thank you for your support - your loyalty!

THE VETERANS cheer.

ESSEX:

We will march to Whitehall and the whole city will rise as one to support us.

Once again, THE VETERANS cheer.

ESSEX:

Then we shall have the glory - and the riches - that the Queen and Lord Cecil denied us!

This elicits the loudest cheer of all and ESSEX strides down the steps towards the VETERANS, who continue to applaud him.

23. EXT. LUDGATE (LONDON STREET). DAY (EARLY MORNING).

ESSEX, SOUTHAMPTON and THE OTHER NOBLES, who are all on horseback, lead ESSEX'S VETERANS, who are all on foot.

There is no-one else about except a few EARLY RISERS (including a BAKER carrying freshly baked bread) who stop and stare.

SOUTHAMPTON (calling out to them, triumphantly):

Fear not, good fellows. You will soon be liberated!

THE BAKER and THE OTHER EARLY RISERS look shocked - and scared.

24. EXT. LUDGATE. DAY.

A NOBLEMAN is riding down Ludgate, but suddenly stops: he can just see, at the other end of the street, ESSEX'S MEN (on horseback and on foot) coming towards him.

For a moment he looks amazed, but then he wheels his horse round and quickly rides back in the direction he had come from.

He rides up to a guard-post, where about FIFTY SOLDIERS are stretching and yawning in the early morning sun.

NOBLEMAN (calling out):

Quick! We must barricade the street.

THE SOLDIERS all look up at him in surprise.

FIRST SOLDIER:

What?

SECOND SOLDIER:

Why, my Lord?

NOBLEMAN:

Because a group of armed men - a large group - is coming this way and they look as if they mean to gain entry to the Palace. (Pause.) We must not let them pass.

Finally THE SOLDIERS understand and rush inside the guard-post.

NOBLEMAN:

And for God's sake, send to the Palace for reinforcements!

A THIRD SOLDIER immediately runs off towards the Palace, which is just visible in the distance.

As THE SOLDIERS begin carrying out chairs and tables from the guard-post, the NOBLEMAN nervously looks back down the street.

25. EXT. LUDGATE. DAY.

ESSEX, SOUTHAMPTON and the OTHER NOBLES on horseback are all smiling broadly as they slowly trot down the street.

Suddenly they stop smiling and stop riding, forcing THE MEN on foot behind them to stop walking.

THEIR POINT OF VIEW:

Directly ahead of them, a barricade of chairs and tables has been erected to block off the street and behind it are the FIFTY SOLDIERS, spears raised, and the NOBLEMAN on his horse.

NOBLEMAN (calling out):

Halt! I am the Sheriff of London. Who goes there?

Nonchalantly, ESSEX rides forward.

ESSEX:

'Tis I, Sheriff - the Earl of Essex.

THE NOBLEMAN - THE SHERIFF - looks amazed.

SHERIFF:

My Lord Essex?

He looks at the MEN massed behind ESSEX.

SHERIFF:

What do you mean by this show of force?

ESSEX (smiling):

I have come to reclaim my title of vice-regent.

He extends a hand towards the SHERIFF.

ESSEX:

Join us.

THE SHERIFF looks even more astonished, then shakes his head.

SHERIFF:

I must order you to lay down your arms, my Lord - at once!

ESSEX laughs.

ESSEX:

I will surrender neither my rights nor my claim.

SHERIFF (angrily):

Then, Sir, you are a traitor!

ESSEX:

Those are the words of Cecil and his parasites!

He pulls out his sword, looks round and gives the order.

CHARGE!

ESSEX leads his MEN as they rush towards the barricade: as they approach it, THE SHERIFF looks round at his SOLDIERS.

SHERIFF:

We must hold them at bay.

THE SOLDIERS nod nervously: a few gulp or swallow.

Then ESSEX and THE OTHER NOBLES on horseback smash into the barricade, their horses literally rearing up over it.

The SHERIFF rides forward, his sword drawn to confront ESSEX.

ESSEX and THE SHERIFF's swords crash together as ESSEX'S MEN try to scramble over the barricade: some are about to succeed when there is suddenly a huge roar from behind the barricade.

Everyone, including ESSEX and the SHERIFF, stops fighting and turns round to see where the noise is coming from.

THEIR POINT OF VIEW:

Hurtling towards the barricade are at least a HUNDRED MEN on horseback, followed by SEVERAL HUNDRED MEN on foot.

SHERIFF (smiling broadly):

Reinforcements! (Pause.) Thank God - and Lord Cecil!

ESSEX'S MEN, or at least those on foot, see the HORSEMEN approaching and immediately turn round and start running away (SEVERAL OF THEM hobbling on crutches, as they are missing legs).

ESSEX watches them go, then looks at SOUTHAMPTON in disbelief.

ESSEX:

Where are they going?

THE SHERIFF calls out to ESSEX from behind the barricade.

SHERIFF:

Your "veterans", my Lord, are obviously tired of fighting!

For a moment, ESSEX looks back at THE SHERIFF in horror.

Then he quickly wheels his horse round and rides off after his MEN, followed by SOUTHAMPTON and THE OTHER NOBLES on horseback.

THE SHERIFF and HIS TROOPS cheer as the "REINFORCEMENTS" on horseback leap over the barricade to follow ESSEX and his MEN.

26. INT. ESSEX'S STUDY. DAY.

ESSEX, SOUTHAMPTON and THE NOBLES are holed up in Essex's study: they have erected their own "barricade", by blocking the door with furniture, but it is about to be broken down.

As they watch, the door begins to splinter and split apart.

ESSEX:

There is nothing left but the Roman way.

THE OTHER NOBLES nod grimly, but SOUTHAMPTON looks terrified.

SOUTHAMPTON:

Kill ourselves? But we will go to hell!

ESSEX:

'Tis better than the Tower!

The door is finally broken down and a CAPTAIN enters the room.

CAPTAIN (calling out to his SOLDIERS behind):

Disarm them! The Queen will want them alive!

SEVERAL SOLDIERS enter the room and ONE OF THE NOBLES immediately holds his sword with both hands and stabs himself in the stomach.

THE OTHER NOBLES hesitate as they watch him die and SEVERAL SOLDIERS wrestle their swords away and force them to the floor.

ESSEX and SOUTHAMPTON withdraw towards the window as SEVERAL OTHER SOLDIERS advance towards them with their swords drawn.

As they reach the window, ESSEX turns to face SOUTHAMPTON and points his sword at him.

ESSEX:

We must do it, Henry, before it's too late.

SOUTHAMPTON shakes his head.

SOUTHAMPTON:

No, I cannot. I'll throw myself on the mercy of the Queen!

ESSEX stares at him in disbelief.

TURNCOAT!

He thrusts his sword at SOUTHAMPTON, who narrowly evades it.

He is about to try again when THREE SOLDIERS grab him from behind, wrestle his sword away and force him to the ground.

As ESSEX continues to struggle, even as he lies on the ground, SOUTHAMPTON lowers his sword, kneels down and begins to weep.

27. INT. BACKSTAGE OFFICE, THE GLOBE THEATRE. NIGHT.

The office is illuminated by candle-light as SHAKESPEARE writes, HEMINGS mends a costume and CONDELL counts money.

BURBAGE:

Have you heard?

They all stop what they are doing and look up at him.

SHAKESPEARE:

Heard what?

BURBAGE:

Essex and Southampton have led a rebellion against the Queen.

WHAT?!

BURBAGE:

The rebellion failed and both men, along with what remains of their "followers", are in the Tower.

CONDELL (softly):

And we shall soon join them.

BURBAGE, HEMINGS and SHAKESPEARE all look at CONDELL in horror.

28. INT/EXT. THE STAGE, GLOBE THEATRE. DAY.

An exhausted-looking SHAKESPEARE, BURBAGE, HEMINGS AND CONDELL (they have obviously not slept) are standing on the stage.

THE OTHER ACTORS from "Richard the Second", including AUGUSTINE PHILIPS, are sitting around them looking petrified.

SHAKESPEARE:

So what do we say?

PHILIPS (blankly):

To whom?

SHAKESPEARE (incredulous):

The Queen's men, of course!

He looks off-stage, as if he were looking out into the city.

SHAKESPEARE:

They will be here soon enough. By now, they'll have rounded up all of Essex's "sympathisers" and they will surely come for us next, doubtless having been informed of our "performance" for the rebels. (Pause.) When they do, what do we say?

HEMINGS laughs grimly and SHAKESPEARE stares at him in disbelief.

SHAKESPEARE:

Pray tell, John, what amuses you?

You, Will.

Me?

HEMINGS:

Yes, you, Will - the great "Shakespeare"! For the first time that I can remember, you are lost for words - lost for lines!

SHAKESPEARE nods, solemnly.

SHAKESPEARE:

Aye. 'Tis the first time.

HEMINGS:

I say we tell the truth.

SHAKESPEARE:

"The truth"?

HEMINGS:

Aye, that we - the company -

He looks pointedly at SHAKESPEARE as he says this.

HEMINGS:

- owed Southampton a debt and only sought to discharge it.

CONDELL:

And is that debt above the debt of loyalty we owe the Queen?

CONDELL looks at HEMINGS and slowly shakes his head.

CONDELL:

I think not.

For a moment, there is silence.

CONDELL:

I say we stick to the money.

SHAKESPEARE:

"The money"?

CONDELL:

Aye. We say that we received a special commission, far in excess of what we would normally earn for a single performance, especially of an old play.

He smiles, mischievously.

CONDELL:

The authorities all think that players are little better than whores! Well, let us act like whores and say that we did it for the money - and no other reason.

Good idea, Henry. For once, let's profit from their prejudices!

ACTOR (VOICE OFF):

Why not tell the truth, Will?

EVERYONE looks round, and down, at an actor called BRYANT (aged 25), who sits on the floor but looks up at SHAKESPEARE accusingly.

SHAKESPEARE:

What "truth"?

BRYANT (angrily):

That you loved Southampton!

WHAT?!

BRYANT:

I have read the "Sonnets" you wrote in his honour. I know not if it was as a son or as a lover -

SHAKESPEARE and THE OTHERS look even more amazed.

BRYANT:

- But you loved him and that is why you have led us to our death!

SHAKESPEARE shakes his head defiantly.

SHAKESPEARE:

I do not "love" Southampton. If I ever did "love" him, I do not love him now. Now I hate him, for deceiving me!

BRYANT (sceptically):

You must have known what he was planning.

SHAKESPEARE (indignantly):

I did not! I knew that he was loyal to Essex - everyone knew that - but I did not know that he was planning to start a rebellion the day after we performed for him! Had I known that, I would never have agreed to perform.

He stares down at BRYANT.

SHAKESPEARE:

He misled me. He used my debt to him - a debt I had to discharge! - to make me do his bidding.

BRYANT scoffs.

BRYANT:

It must have been a considerable debt.

HEMINGS strides across the stage and stands over BRYANT.

HEMINGS:

It was - and we all owed it!

BRYANT (firmly):

I owe no man.

HEMINGS:

Oh, no?

He indicates SHAKESPEARE.

HEMINGS:

You owe Will! Without him, you would still be a tiler, or a carpenter, or whatever menial thing you were before you became a player, working twice as hard to earn half as much.

CONDELL:

Aye. And without a whorehouse next door to spend it in!

THE OTHERS all laugh and BRYANT looks chastened.

HEMINGS (to ALL THE ACTORS):

We all owe Will: without his plays, we would not be players!
That is why his debt is our debt. And that is why we will stick together as a company - not just a company of players, but a company of men!

Suddenly A GROUP OF ARMED SOLDIERS enters the theatre, marches forward and stops in front of the stage.

THE ACTORS, who are now all on their feet, stare down at them.

The soldiers' CAPTAIN comes to the front, near the stage.

CAPTAIN:

As part of the inquiry into the Earl of Essex's rebellion, the Lord Chief Justice orders you to appear before him.

He looks up at THE ACTORS massed onstage.

CAPTAIN:

Choose one of your number to speak on your behalf.

ALL THE ACTORS look around at each other as the CAPTAIN turns away and HIS MEN spread out to block the exits.

SHAKESPEARE walks into the middle of the group of ACTORS.

SHAKESPEARE:

I will do it.

HEMINGS (firmly):

No, Will. You can't.

SHAKESPEARE looks surprised.

SHAKESPEARE:

HEMINGS:

Because your long-standing relationship with Southampton will only strengthen the suspicion that we were part of the rebellion.

CONDELL (nodding):

He's right. It's better that you don't mention Southampton at all!

HEMINGS nods in agreement.

HEMINGS:

Someone else should speak for us.

CONDELL:

I suggest Augustine.

EVERYONE looks at PHILIPS, who looks terrified.

PHILIPS:

Me? What? Why?

CONDELL (smiling broadly):

Because you are the most innocent-looking among us!
(Pause and even wider smile.) Indeed, you are the only innocent-looking one among us!

HEMINGS, BURBAGE and SEVERAL OTHERS laugh.

HEMINGS (to PHILIPS):

'Tis true. That is why you always play "the hero"!

PHILIPS:

Bolingbroke is no "hero"! And this is not a play - this is real!

CONDELL stares at PHILIPS.

CONDELL:

You are best equipped to play the role of "spokesman",
Augustine.

HEMINGS and BURBAGE (together):

Aye.

PHILIPS still looks frightened, so HEMINGS goes over to him.

HEMINGS:

Don't worry. We'll prepare you.

CONDELL:

Aye. We'll stick to the "money" story.

SHAKESPEARE:

And I will compose a few lines for you to say to the Lord Chief Justice -

He glances at HEMINGS and CONDELL.

SHAKESPEARE:

- omitting all mention of Southampton.

HEMINGS and CONDELL both nod in agreement, then HEMINGS comes over and stands right beside SHAKESPEARE.

HEMINGS (to SHAKESPEARE, quietly):

Compose them well. (Pause.) You have never written anything so important!

SHAKESPEARE suddenly looks very nervous - even scared.

29. INT. COURTROOM. DAY.

A fearful-looking PHILIPS stands before THE LORD CHIEF JUSTICE and TWO OTHER JUDGES, all of whom are seated.

THE LORD CHIEF JUSTICE - a fearsome-looking old man - studies a piece of paper he is holding, then puts it down on the desk.

LORD CHIEF JUSTICE:

This is your statement, Mister Philips? On behalf of all your company?

PHILIPS (nodding quickly):

Yes, my Lord.

LORD CHIEF JUSTICE (furiously):

Then you are a liar as well a traitor!

PHILIPS (shaking his head):

No, my Lord.

LORD CHIEF JUSTICE:

You were part of the conspiracy against Her Majesty, weren't you? All of you!

PHILIPS:

No, my Lord. We knew of no conspiracy.

FIRST JUDGE:

Then why perform the play?

SECOND JUDGE:

Yes - especially such an inflammatory play?

PHILIPS:

As I said in my statement, my Lord -

He points at the piece of paper on the desk.

PHILIPS:

- We did it for the money. No other reason.

For a moment, ALL THREE JUDGES look at him accusingly.

Then the LORD CHIEF JUSTICE turns and looks at his colleagues.

LORD CHIEF JUSTICE:

Well, he is a player.

FIRST JUDGE:

They are all players.

SECOND JUDGE:

And players are little more than whores! I can well believe that they would do anything for money.

They all laugh and PHILIPS smiles uneasily.

LORD CHIEF JUSTICE:

Alright, Mister Philips. At the moment, there is no other evidence linking you and your company to the conspiracy, so for now you are dismissed - pending further inquiries.

PHILIPS:

Thank you, my Lords. Thank you.

He bows, as if he were on stage.

He turns and is about to go out when a MESSENGER enters, carrying a note that he gives to the LORD CHIEF JUSTICE.

THE LORD CHIEF JUSTICE looks at it, then looks at PHILIPS.

LORD CHIEF JUSTICE:

It is for you, Mister Philips.

PHILIPS turns round, looking absolutely dumbfounded.

Me, my Lord?

LORD CHIEF JUSTICE (nodding):

That is what I said.

PHILIPS:

But who is it from?

THE LORD CHIEF JUSTICE smiles at PHILIPS.

LORD CHIEF JUSTICE:

The Queen!

For a moment, PHILIPS looks as if he might collapse in shock, but then he steps forward and takes the note.

ALL THE ACTORS are on stage, looking at PHILIPS questioningly.

Well?

PHILIPS:

We are not suspected of being part of the conspiracy.

THE ACTORS all sigh with relief - ONE OR TWO even cheer.

SHAKESPEARE:

You must have been a convincing witness, Augustine.

PHILIPS:

'Twas not me that convinced them, Will. 'Twas your "testimony".

SHAKESPEARE smiles, looking a little pleased with himself.

CONDELL:

So they were persuaded by the "money" story?

PHILIPS:

Aye. As you thought they would be.

CONDELL (smiling):

Good.

CONDELL also looks pleased with himself and HEMINGS laughs.

HEMINGS:

Thank God we players are of such low repute! They would never have believed us otherwise.

Now EVERYONE laughs, except PHILIPS, which SHAKESPEARE notices.

SHAKESPEARE:

What is it, Augustine? Why do you look so anxious?

PHILIPS takes out the note he had received in the courtroom.

PHILIPS:

Because we have received another commission.

What? From who?

PHILIPS (solemnly):

From the Queen!

SHAKESPEARE and ALL THE OTHER ACTORS look at him in amazement.

PHILIPS hands SHAKESPEARE the note and SHAKESPEARE quickly unfurls it as THE OTHERS crowd round, also trying to read it.

HEMINGS:

What is it, Will? What does it say?

SHAKESPEARE:

It says Her Majesty desires that we perform for her.

For a moment, they are all speechless.

When?

SHAKESPEARE checks the note again.

SHAKESPEARE:

Tomorrow. (Pause.) The night before Essex's execution.

WHAT?!

CONDELL (nervously):

And what play?

SHAKESPEARE takes a final look at the note, then looks up.

"Richard the Second".

WHAT?!

SHAKESPEARE:

Complete with dethroning scene.

Once again, for a moment there is total, stunned silence.

HEMINGS:

I don't understand. Having banned it, why does the Queen want us to perform "Richard the Second" - complete with dethroning scene - for her?

SHAKESPEARE:

Because she wants revenge!

"Revenge"?

SHAKESPEARE:

Aye. We will perform for her, as we performed for the conspirators, and then we will be killed - just like the conspirators.

SHAKESPEARE and ALL THE ACTORS look horrified.

31. INT. BACKSTAGE AT COURT. NIGHT.

SHAKESPEARE, HEMINGS and CONDELL, made up and in costume for their roles in "Richard", peer out from the "wings" (in reality, the side of a raised platform serving as a "stage").

THEIR POINT OF VIEW:

Sitting in a high-backed chair in the great hall that is being used for the performance is the QUEEN - ELIZABETH I.

She is surrounded by OFFICIALS, including a thin, bearded, cruel-looking man.

HEMINGS (quietly):

They're all out there - even Lord Cecil himself!

The cruel-looking man - LORD CECIL - turns and looks directly at them, so they quickly duck back into the wings.

SHAKESPEARE looks at HEMINGS and CONDELL - and looks terrified.

SHAKESPEARE:

We should have fled!

HEMINGS:

Where to? The Queen has spies all over England - all over Europe! She would find us wherever we went.

CONDELL:

Besides, if we ran away it would only confirm their suspicions.

HEMINGS and CONDELL both look at SHAKESPEARE.

HEMINGS:

We must go on.

CONDELL nods.

Finally, SHAKESPEARE nods too.

Then the three of them turn round to face THE REST OF THE COMPANY, who are standing behind them.

THE OTHER PLAYERS, including BURBAGE as Richard and PHILIPS as Bolingbroke, who are also made up and in costume, stare back.

SHAKESPEARE (addressing them all):

Gentlemen, I want to thank you - and apologise to you.

HEMINGS:

What for, Will? You owe us no apology.

CONDELL:

Nor explanation.

SHAKESPEARE:

I do. Unwittingly, perhaps carelessly, I have led us all to this point and if my fears are proved correct, then -

HEMINGS (interrupting):

Quiet, Will!

SHAKESPEARE (surprised):

What?

HEMINGS:

For once, you must be quiet.

CONDELL:

Aye. Say nothing!

They all laugh, except SHAKESPEARE, who looks confused.

Why?

HEMINGS:

For one thing, we are about to go on stage and must concentrate our minds. For another, you owe us nothing - and certainly not an apology!

SHAKESPEARE (emphatically):

I do!

HEMINGS (equally emphatically):

No! 'Tis we who owe you - our careers, our lives.

CONDELL:

If we lose them now, well, at least we have something to lose. Before we had nothing!

HEMINGS:

That's right. Without you, Will, we'd all still be tiling walls, or thatching roofs, or selling fruit -

CONDELL:

Or fish.

HEMINGS:

While waiting for a chance to act! Instead, here we are -

He looks out at the great hall briefly before turning back round.

HEMINGS:

- About to perform for the Queen of England herself!
(Pause.) That's something a mere grocer -

CONDELL:

Or fishmonger!

HEMINGS:

- Could only dream of!

He smiles at SHAKESPEARE and SHAKESPEARE smiles back.

HEMINGS:

Take your positions, Men.

ALL THE ACTORS immediately stand to attention.

HEMINGS:

Tonight's performance is a very special one. It may even be our last performance together.

SOME ACTORS, especially the younger ones, look tearful.

HEMINGS:

So let us make it a memorable one -

SHAKESPEARE (interrupting him):

- One fit for a Queen!

EVERYONE laughs, and HEMINGS smiles at SHAKESPEARE.

HEMINGS:

You always have to have the last word, don't you?

SHAKESPEARE laughs.

Tonight I do.

A trumpet sounds to announce the start of the performance and THE ACTORS who are not in the first scene take a step back, leaving those who are - including SHAKESPEARE, HEMINGS and BURBAGE - standing in the wings, looking frightened.

Then, as one, they walk onstage.

32. INT. THE "STAGE", COURT. NIGHT.

THE ACTORS stand on the "stage" and look out at the audience and THE COURT, with THE QUEEN at its centre, looks back at them.

For a moment, THE ACTORS all seem to be frozen with fear, but then BURBAGE - the consummate professional - begins to speak.

BURBAGE (as King Richard):

"Old John of Gaunt, time-honoured Lancaster,
Hast thou according to thy oath and bond
Brought hither Henry Hereford, thy bold son..."

As BURBAGE continues to speak, SHAKESPEARE stares at THE QUEEN.

HIS POINT OF VIEW:

THE QUEEN is old, perhaps even close to death, with an incredibly wrinkled face, but she is wearing so much make-up - even more than THE ACTORS themselves - that the effect is quite incongruous, like the presence of lipstick on a corpse.

SHAKESPEARE is still staring at her when he becomes aware that THE OTHER ACTORS, including BURBAGE, are staring at him: for a moment he is puzzled, then realises why they are looking at him.

Finally, remembering his line, he speaks.

SHAKESPEARE (as John of Gaunt):

"I have, my liege."

HEMINGS looks at him and mouths the word, "Concentrate": SHAKESPEARE nods in acknowledgement and BURBAGE resumes.

BURBAGE:

"Tell me moreover..."

33. INT. "THE STAGE", COURT. NIGHT.

BURBAGE (as King Richard):

"For God's sake, let us sit upon the ground,
And tell sad stories of the death of kings -
How some have been deposed, some slain in war,
Some haunted by the ghosts they have deposed,
Some poisoned by their wives, some sleeping killed - "

34. INT. "THE WINGS", THE COURT. NIGHT.

SHAKESPEARE is continuing to watch the QUEEN.

*THE QUEEN is staring at BURBAGE and as he says the next line,
"All murdered", she nods and mouths the words along with him, so that they seem to be coming out of her mouth.*

SHAKESPEARE is so surprised he almost falls forward onto the stage in shock, but just manages to steady himself in time.

35. INT. "THE STAGE", THE COURT. NIGHT.

It is the dethroning scene and PHILIPS (as Bolingbroke) holds the crown and sceptre that BURBAGE (as Richard) has given him.

BURBAGE (as King Richard):

"What more remains?"

HEMINGS whispers in SHAKESPEARE's ear.

Indeed! "What more remains" of us, once the play ends?

SHAKESPEARE looks round at him fearfully.

37. INT. "THE STAGE", THE COURT. THE NIGHT.

PHILIPS (as Bolingbroke):

To wash this blood off from my guilty hand.

March sadly after."

38. INT. "THE WINGS", THE COURT. NIGHT.

As soon as BURBAGE is carried into the wings, he leaps out of the coffin and looks at SHAKESPEARE eagerly.

Well...?

SHAKESPEARE (confused):

"Well" what?

BURBAGE:

Did she like it?

SHAKESPEARE looks at him in disgust.

SHAKESPEARE:

Honestly, Richard. You and your ego! How could that possibly matter now?

BURBAGE (as if explaining to an idiot):

Because if she liked it, she may not kill us - that's why!

SHAKESPEARE looks unconvinced by this argument and turns round.

He sees that THE QUEEN is sitting in her chair, not moving.

Her OFFICIALS, including LORD CECIL, are all staring at her, obviously waiting to follow her lead.

Slowly, as if it was an effort almost beyond her, she lifts her spindly, wrinkled arms.

Then, finally, she begins to clap.

It is quiet, almost tentative, but it is undeniably applause.

Seeing - and hearing - this, THE REST OF THE COURT follow suit and begin to applaud, much more loudly.

SHAKESPEARE and BURBAGE look at each other in disbelief, before HEMINGS virtually pushes them towards the stage.

HEMINGS:

For God's sake, don't keep her waiting! Get back on stage!

SHAKESPEARE and BURBAGE exchange a final, startled look, then quickly join THE OTHER ACTORS as they go back onstage.

39. INT. "THE STAGE", THE COURT. NIGHT.

ALL THE ACTORS, with SHAKESPEARE and BURBAGE centre-stage, bow deeply as the applause continues and as they do so, they continue to exchange looks of surprise.

Suddenly THE QUEEN stops applauding and so - instantaneously - does THE REST OF THE COURT.

THE ACTORS, along with THE OFFICIALS, all stare at her: they are all obviously wondering what she will say, or do, next.

There is a long - an agonisingly long - pause.

Then, slowly, she raises a solitary finger.

She opens her mouth to speak and when she does speak, it is with a quiet, almost inaudible voice: if everyone else in the hall were not silent, it would be impossible to hear her.

QUEEN:

Master Shakespeare...

With an almost skeletal finger, she points at SHAKESPEARE.

For a moment, SHAKESPEARE looks stunned, but then - silently urged on by THE OTHER ACTORS - he finds his voice.

Yes, your Majesty?

QUEEN:

Come here.

With the same skeletal finger, she beckons him forward.

SHAKESPEARE looks around nervously at THE OTHER ACTORS, especially HEMINGS, but again they all silently urge him on.

He moves forward, slowly, then steps down off the "stage".

He walks towards THE QUEEN, until he is right in front of her, and finally kneels down in front of her.

Your Majesty.

QUEEN (even more quietly):

Closer.

Looking even more surprised, SHAKESPEARE stands up and moves towards her, until he is literally standing right beside her.

Once again, she beckons him to come closer.

He leans down towards her, until his ear is beside her mouth: when she speaks, only he can hear her.

QUEEN:

Fortunately for you, Master Shakespeare, I am a great admirer of your work.

SHAKESPEARE replies with a whisper as he is so close to her.

SHAKESPEARE:

Thank you, your Majesty. You are too kind.

She looks up at him pointedly.

QUEEN:

I know!

SHAKESPEARE is almost taken aback, then quickly regains his composure and leans in even closer to listen to her.

QUEEN:

I enjoyed the play, but you will never perform it again with the dethroning scene while I am alive. Do you understand?

SHAKESPEARE goes to nod, but stops: his head is so close to THE QUEEN's that if he nods he will bump her head with his, so instead he just replies, quietly.

SHAKESPEARE:

Yes, your Majesty. Of course.

QUEEN:

Good. And one final thing...

He leans in even closer, so that he is almost touching her, and she looks up at him again - directly into his eyes.

QUEEN:

I am Richard the Second. Know ye not that?

Slowly, so as to avoid touching her head, he shakes his head.

SHAKESPEARE:

No, your Majesty. I did not know.

She nods, slightly.

QUEEN:

I am.

And with that, she half-sits, half-slumps back in her chair and casually flicks a finger to dismiss SHAKESPEARE.

Instantly, he begins withdrawing, bowing as he goes.

SHAKESPEARE:

Thank you, your Majesty. Thank you.

He continues bowing all the way back to the stage.

He bumps into the stage, then carefully climbs backwards onto it, all the while looking at THE QUEEN and bowing.

Once on the stage, and still bowing, he begins moving slowly toward the wings, followed by ALL THE OTHER ACTORS.

40. INT. "BACKSTAGE", THE COURT. NIGHT.

As they come off stage, HEMINGS, BURBAGE and THE OTHER ACTORS all look at SHAKESPEARE questioningly.

HEMINGS:

What did she say?

SHAKESPEARE stops walking and stares at him.

SHAKESPEARE:

She said she enjoyed the play.

Yes?

SHAKESPEARE:

But we are not to perform it again with the dethroning scene while she is alive.

HEMINGS (nodding):

Yes?

SHAKESPEARE:

And then she said, "I am Richard the Second. Know ye not that?"

WHAT?!

HE and ALL THE OTHER ACTORS look at SHAKESPEARE questioningly.

HEMINGS:

What did she mean?

SHAKESPEARE (shaking his head):

I don't know. And I certainly wasn't going to ask!

Now he looks at them all intently.

SHAKESPEARE:

Now I suggest that we all "exit" immediately, before she changes her mind and has us killed!

Agreed!

ALL THE PLAYERS quickly begin changing out of their costumes.

41. EXT. PALACE GROUNDS. NIGHT.

SHAKESPEARE, HEMINGS, CONDELL and ALL THE OTHER PLAYERS leave the Palace through a side door and enter the grounds smiling and laughing - they are obviously delirious with relief.

Suddenly, they all stop laughing and stop walking.

THEIR POINT OF VIEW:

Straight ahead, a gallows is being erected by several WORKMEN.

ALL THE PLAYERS stare at it.

HEMINGS:

That must be for Essex.

SHAKESPEARE:

Aye. And Southampton.

They all continue to stare at the gallows.

HEMINGS:

But why here? Why not the Tower?

SHAKESPEARE (ruefully):

Obviously, this is another "show" the Queen wants to see for herself.

As they watch, a rope is slung over the top of the gallows.

They watch it being put in place, then tightened, before walking on in silence towards the palace gates.

42. EXT. OUTSIDE THE PALACE GATES. NIGHT.

THE PLAYERS, led by SHAKESPEARE and BURBAGE, walk away from the Palace, watched suspiciously by THE GUARDS standing at the gates.

For a few moments, they walk in complete silence.

Then BURBAGE turns his head and looks at SHAKESPEARE.

BURBAGE:

You know, Will, this would be fitting subject matter for a play.

SHAKESPEARE looks at him questioningly.

SHAKESPEARE:

What would?

BURBAGE:

This - this night, this whole story!

SHAKESPEARE stops walking (forcing EVERYONE behind him to stop) and stares at BURBAGE, prompting him to stop walking, too.

HEMINGS looks at BURBAGE and shakes his head.

HEMINGS:

Not in our lifetime.

CONDELL:

And certainly not in the Queen's!

BURBAGE:

True, but it is a great story. It has everything: treason, rebellion and, most importantly, majesty!

They all consider this for a moment, then nod in agreement.

SHAKESPEARE:

'Tis a plot more fanciful than any I wrote.

For a moment, ALL THE PLAYERS stare at SHAKESPEARE, but then he walks on and they follow, heading away from the Palace.

Fade to:

BLACK.

A caption appears: "QUEEN ELIZABETH DIED IN 1603 AND WAS SUCCEEDED BY HER DISTANT COUSIN, KING JAMES THE SIXTH OF SCOTLAND, WHO BECAME KING JAMES THE FIRST OF ENGLAND."

It is replaced by another caption: "KING JAMES WAS SUCH AN ADMIRER OF SHAKESPEARE THAT HE BECAME THE PATRON OF THE COMPANY, WHICH MEANT THEY FINALLY ENJOYED SOME FINANCIAL SECURITY."

That is replaced by another caption: "OVER THE NEXT TEN YEARS, WHILE HE WAS A MEMBER OF 'THE KING'S MEN', SHAKESPEARE WROTE MANY OF HIS GREATEST PLAYS, INCLUDING THE FOUR GREAT TRAGEDIES - 'HAMLET', 'KING LEAR', 'MACBETH' AND 'OTHELLO' - ALL OF WHICH FEATURE A PLOT AGAINST A KING OR ANOTHER LEADER."

This fades and another caption appears: "PART III (TRAGEDY) - 1616".

This caption fades and a final one appears - "JANUARY" - accompanied by the sound of a quill scraping on paper.

Fade up to:

43. INT. STUDY, SHAKESPEARE'S HOUSE, STRATFORD ON AVON. DAY.

SHAKESPEARE, now 51 and nearly bald, stands in the middle of his study dictating his will to his lawyer, FRANCIS COLLINS, a small, bespectacled man, who is also in his 50s and sitting at a desk.

SHAKESPEARE:

...And finally, I give to my fellows Richard Burbage, John Hemings and Henry Condell twenty-six shillings and eight pence apiece to buy them mourning rings.

COLLINS writes this down, then puts down his quill and looks up.

COLLINS:

May I inquire, Mr Shakespeare, who Mr Hemings and Mr Condell are? I am familiar with the other beneficiaries of your will - including, of course, Mr Burbage, the greatest actor of our age! - but I am not familiar with them.

SHAKESPEARE (smiling):

They are the finest of men: the finest of friends! They were with me from the beginning: they were with me to the end. In fact, when The Globe burned down three years ago, it was John and Henry, along with Richard, who bought my share in the company, allowing me to return to Stratford. Consequently I wish to remember them.

COLLINS (nodding):

Indeed. Rightly so.

COLLINS looks the will over and appears satisfied.

COLLINS:

That is everything. As instructed, I shall retain a copy of the will in our office in Warwick and you can write to me at any point to alter it.

SHAKESPEARE (nodding):

Very good.

COLLINS puts the will in a slim leather bag.

COLLINS:

May I ask another question?

SHAKESPEARE:

Of course.

COLLINS:

Why are you making a will now?

He peers at SHAKESPEARE.

COLLINS:

I hope you are not unwell.

SHAKESPEARE (smiling):

No, Mr Collins - I am very well! Very well indeed.

COLLINS:

Then why make a will? (Pause.) It is usually only the dying who make one.

SHAKESPEARE (smiling):

My youngest daughter is getting married next month and I want to put everything in place to provide her with a suitable dowry - and inheritance.

COLLINS (also smiling):

Ah, I see. In that case, congratulations are in order.

SHAKESPEARE:

Thank you. It promises to be a joyous union!

COLLINS:

I trust the groom is a young man of good standing.

SHAKESPEARE (nodding):

Indeed. In fact, he is the son of an old friend.

COLLINS:

Excellent. Then I wish you every felicitation.

SHAKESPEARE:

Thank you.

COLLINS picks up his bag, stands up and goes towards the door.

Good day, Mister Shakespeare.

SHAKESPEARE:

Good day to you, Mister Collins.

SHAKESPEARE watches him go out, then smiles broadly.

SHAKESPEARE (quietly, to himself):

That's one thing done.

Fade to:

BLACK.

A caption appears - "FEBRUARY" - accompanied by the sound of joyous laughter.

Fade up to:

44. INT. DINING ROOM, SHAKESPEARE'S HOUSE, STRATFORD. DAY.

SHAKESPEARE, wearing his finest, most expensive clothes, is sitting at the head of the dining table for the wedding feast.

The bride and groom - JUDITH (a rather plain-looking woman of about 30 who is wearing a beautiful white dress) and THOMAS (a handsome man of about 27) - are sitting on either side of him.

His eldest daughter, SUSANNA (who is 32), her husband, JOHN HALL (who is 40 and all in black, including puritanical skull-cap) and their daughter, ELIZABETH (who is nine), sit in the middle of the table, next to HEMINGS and CONDELL (now 58 and 36 respectively), who - like everyone else - are in their finery.

At the other end of the table is the Groom's father, RICHARD QUINEY, a handsome man in his early fifties, with his own wife, MRS QUINEY, and Shakespeare's wife, ANNE (a rather plain-looking woman of about 60), sitting on either side of him.

HEMINGS and CONDELL look at SHAKESPEARE and begin to chant.

HEMINGS AND CONDELL (together):

SPEECH! SPEECH!

SHAKESPEARE (smiling):

Alright, you rowdy lot - it's coming!

HEMINGS:

It had better be good. After all, you do have a reputation to live up to!

Everyone laughs and SHAKESPEARE stands up: he waits for the laughter to subside before starting to speak.

SHAKESPEARE:

I simply want to thank you all for coming today, especially those of you, like John and Henry -

He smiles at HEMINGS and CONDELL and they smile back.

SHAKESPEARE:

Who have come from afar!

HEMINGS:

It was our pleasure!

CONDELL (nodding):

Indeed.

HEMINGS:

Even if the journey nearly killed us!

Everyone laughs, but HEMINGS shakes his head.

HEMINGS:

Three days on the worst, most rutted roads in England.

CONDELL (to SHAKESPEARE):

It was too far for Burbage. He's too ill to travel.

SHAKESPEARE (nodding):

I know. He said so in his letter.

HEMINGS looks up at SHAKESPEARE and smiles broadly.

HEMINGS:

No wonder you stayed in London all those years, Will. It would be easier to travel to the West Indies than it is to Warwickshire!

EVERYONE laughs - except ANNE, who does not look amused.

SHAKESPEARE turns to address THE GROOM.

SHAKESPEARE:

I also want to thank Thomas.

Me? What for?

SHAKESPEARE (smiling):

For finally taking Judith off our hands! I thought it would never happen.

EVERYONE laughs, except JUDITH, who looks embarrassed.

SHAKESPEARE:

Seriously, Thomas, your father is one of my oldest friends in Stratford and I am delighted at the union of our two families.

RICHARD QUINEY (calling out):

We both are!

SHAKESPEARE:

And finally I want to thank my own family: Judith, Susanna and Anne.

He looks around at each of them in turn.

SHAKESPEARE:

They have had much to endure over the years, while I was in London.

JUDITH:

You were working, Father. We know that - we always knew that!

SHAKESPEARE looks at her lovingly.

SHAKESPEARE:

It is typically kind of you, Judith, to say so, but I know that I have missed much that has happened in your life.

He looks at SUSANNA, then ANNE.

SHAKESPEARE:

I have missed much that has happened in all your lives.

Suddenly he looks thoughtful, even sad.

SHAKESPEARE:

I was away when my children were little; I was away when they grew up; I was even away when my beloved boy Hamnet - Judith's twin - was taken from us by the plague. (He lowers his head.) God bless his soul.

ANNE begins to cry, gently: for a moment, it looks as if SHAKESPEARE might cry too, but then he continues his speech.

SHAKESPEARE:

But all of that only makes my being here today all the more precious. And so, without further ado, I ask you to raise your glasses to Judith and Thomas - the bride and groom!

The toast is taken up around the table: "THE BRIDE AND GROOM".

JUDITH and THOMAS look embarrassed but then kiss, to the sound of applause, cheers and even the banging of fists on the table.

SHAKESPEARE sits back down and looks at HEMINGS and CONDELL: they raise their glasses to him, and he raises his to them.

45. INT. THE DINING ROOM, SHAKESPEARE'S HOUSE. NIGHT.

SHAKESPEARE, HEMINGS and CONDELL sit at the dining table, amid the detritus of the wedding feast, smoking clay tobacco pipes.

SHAKESPEARE:

It's been a great day.

HEMINGS (nodding):

Indeed.

SHAKESPEARE:

And not just because I have finally "married off" the last of my children.

HEMINGS and CONDELL laugh, but he looks at them very seriously.

SHAKESPEARE:

Today, as I walked Judith to church, I thought of another time I had walked down the high street in Stratford with crowds lined up on either side.

HEMINGS and CONDELL both look at him questioningly.

SHAKESPEARE:

It was nearly forty years ago and I was with my Father, only that day the crowds were jeering, not cheering, because my Father, having served on the town council for a decade - having been a magistrate! - had been stripped of His powers and position.

HEMINGS and CONDELL both look surprised.

SHAKESPEARE:

He had been found guilty of "usury and illegal trading in wool". It was all a lie, of course, but he was paraded through the town like a thief!

Now HEMINGS and CONDELL stare at him in amazement.

HEMINGS:

You never told us this.

SHAKESPEARE:

It's only now I can tell you.

CONDELL:

How so?

SHAKESPEARE:

Because today it was as if that shame - that stain on the "Shakespeare" family name - was finally expunged.

He stares at HEMINGS and CONDELL.

SHAKESPEARE:

I have dedicated my life to rebuilding my Father's fortune, the fortune that was so cruelly stolen from him, but it was only today, when the whole town turned out to watch me lead my daughter to church, that I felt our reputation - "the immortal part of ourselves", as I once wrote - was restored.

He smiles at them both.

SHAKESPEARE:

But that is enough about the past. Now I want to look forward to the future and the union of the Shakespeares and the Quineys!

He raises his glass.

SHAKESPEARE:

To the Shakespeares and the Quineys!

HEMINGS and CONDELL raise their glasses, while still looking surprised at what they have just heard.

HEMINGS AND CONDELL (together):

"The Shakespeares and the Quineys!"

They all drain their glasses, drinking deeply.

Fade to:

BLACK.

A caption appears - "MARCH" - accompanied by the sound of someone knocking (indeed, hammering) at a door.

Fade up to:

46. INT. DOWNSTAIRS CORRIDOR, SHAKESPEARE'S HOUSE. DAY.

SHAKESPEARE, half-asleep, comes downstairs in his nightgown.

SHAKESPEARE (calling out):

Alright! I'm coming! There's no need to wake the dead!

He goes up to the front door and opens it.

JUDITH is in the doorway: her eyes are bloodshot (she's obviously been crying); her hair is tangled (as if she has been tearing at it); and she, too, is in her nightgown, covered by a blanket.

SHAKESPEARE:

Judith! What's wrong? Why are you here?

JUDITH looks up at him - and immediately bursts into tears.

SHAKESPEARE:

Come inside and tell me.

He ushers her inside and closes the door firmly behind her.

SHAKESPEARE:

Now, please tell me what's wrong?

JUDITH:

I'm not sure I can.

SHAKESPEARE looks at her angrily.

SHAKESPEARE:

Of course you can! That's why you came here.

JUDITH looks up at him, then nods her head.

JUDITH:

It's Thomas, Father.

SHAKESPEARE:

"Thomas"? What's wrong with him? (Pause.) Is he ill?

No, Father. He's been -

She pauses again, obviously unable to say any more.

SHAKESPEARE (curtly):

Go on - tell me!

JUDITH:

He's been arrested!

She starts crying again and SHAKESPEARE looks stunned.

"Arrested"? What for?

JUDITH hesitates as she is embarrassed, or even ashamed.

JUDITH:

"Unlawful copulation and abandonment".

SHAKESPEARE looks at her in disbelief.

WHAT?!

There is a long pause as he continues to stare at her.

SHAKESPEARE:

Who did he - ?

He pauses, obviously trying to choose the right word.

Abandon?

A woman called Margaret Wheeler.

SHAKESPEARE (blankly):

"Margaret Wheeler"? (Pause.) I've never heard of her.

JUDITH:

Neither had I - until the Constables read out her name.

SHAKESPEARE is speechless.

JUDITH:

She died in childbirth last week.

SHAKESPEARE almost collapses in shock.

WHAT?!

Obviously unable to meet his gaze, JUDITH looks at the floor.

JUDITH:

And the child died too.

SHAKESPEARE puts a hand against the front door for support and stares at JUDITH as she stares at the ground.

SHAKESPEARE:

JUDITH:

At the courthouse - the church courthouse.

SHAKESPEARE:

"The church courthouse"?

JUDITH (nodding):

Yes. Apparently, because of the nature of the charges against him, he will be tried in an ecclesiastical court.

She comes towards him with a desperate look in her eyes.

JUDITH:

Oh, Father, can you help him?

"Help" him? How?

JUDITH:

By using your wealth and influence to secure his release!

SHAKESPEARE looks shocked.

SHAKESPEARE:

I'm not sure my "wealth and influence", as you put it, extend that far.

JUDITH:

Oh, they do - they do! (She looks at him almost maniacally.)
You're the richest and most powerful man in Stratford,
Father. If anyone can help Thomas, it's you!

He looks at her in alarm.

JUDITH:

Please help him - if not for his own sake, then for mine!

Once again, she begins to cry.

JUDITH:

I know he didn't do it, Father. (Pause.) He'd never do such a thing. (Pause.) He's a gentleman!

SHAKESPEARE looks at her questioningly for a moment.

SHAKESPEARE:

I'll see if I can be of any assistance.

JUDITH:

Oh, thank you, Father, thank you. (Pause.) I knew I could rely on you.

SHAKESPEARE:

You always can, my dear. You always can.

Quickly, he goes upstairs and as he does so he passes ANNE, who is also still in her night-dress, coming downstairs.

ANNE looks at him quizzically but he continues up the stairs.

Then she looks down and sees JUDITH sitting on the bottom step and weeping, so she hurries downstairs to comfort her.

47. INT. JAIL CELL. DAY.

SHAKESPEARE (now fully dressed) is shown by a JAILER into a tiny cell, where THOMAS, wearing a generic grey prisoner's uniform, is sitting on a filthy bed: in fact, the whole cell is filthy, with excrement smeared on the floor, walls and beds.

As the JAILER goes back out into the corridor, locking the cell door behind him, THOMAS rises to greet SHAKESPEARE.

THOMAS:

Thank you for coming.

SHAKESPEARE:

I came as soon as Judith told me.

THOMAS indicates the filthy bed behind SHAKESPEARE.

THOMAS:

Please - have a seat!

SHAKESPEARE looks down at the bed, then shakes his head.

SHAKESPEARE:

No, thank you. I'll stand.

THOMAS remains standing too.

SHAKESPEARE:

I have sent word to my lawyer, Mr Collins, and I am sure he will be here shortly. He will go over everything with you: the charges against you; your defence; everything. He is an immensely capable man and I am sure he can help.

THOMAS:

I can't afford a lawyer.

SHAKESPEARE:

Don't worry, Thomas - I'll pay. After all, you're a member of the family now.

THOMAS looks simultaneously flattered and embarrassed.

SHAKESPEARE:

However, before Mr Collins arrives, there is something I must ask you.

THOMAS (nodding):

Of course. Anything.

SHAKESPEARE:

Did you do it?

THOMAS sits back down on his bed and stares at the ground.

SHAKESPEARE:

I'm not sure you understand the seriousness of the situation you are in, Thomas. I have spoken to the court officials and they told me that the offences you've been charged with are the most serious offences that can be tried in a church court. If you are found guilty of them, you could be punished by excommunication -

Now THOMAS looks up at him.

THOMAS (alarmed):

"Excommunication"?

SHAKESPEARE (nodding):

Yes. And flogging!

THOMAS (even more alarmed):

"Flogging"?

SHAKESPEARE (still nodding):

Aye. In public and - if the court deems it appropriate - to within an inch of your life.

Oh my God!

He looks down again and puts his head in his hands.

SHAKESPEARE:

So, before we go any further, you must tell me the truth.
(Pause.) Did you do it?

THOMAS does not reply but continues to stare at the ground.

SHAKESPEARE:

Thomas, if you don't tell me the truth, neither I nor Mister Collins can do anything to help you.

Still THOMAS says nothing.

SHAKESPEARE (sympathetically):

I was a young man myself once, so I know the temptations that can arise.

THOMAS looks up at him in surprise.

THOMAS:

You do?

SHAKESPEARE (nodding):

Yes, of course. So I ask you again: did you do it? Did you have "carnal relations" with this woman - ?

He takes out a piece of paper from his jacket pocket.

SHAKESPEARE (reading):

"Margaret Wheeler".

THOMAS stares up at him for a moment before finally speaking.

THOMAS:

Yes. I did.

He begins to cry.

SHAKESPEARE:

Given that she died in childbirth, and was apparently near the full term of her pregnancy, it must have happened last summer.

THOMAS (nodding, while still crying):

SHAKESPEARE:

When you began courting Judith.

THOMAS begins to sob and his tears fall on the filthy floor.

SHAKESPEARE:

Who was she?

Just a local girl.

"Local"?

Once again, he glances at the piece of paper.

SHAKESPEARE:

I don't know the name "Wheeler".

THOMAS:

Well, she's from Arden - the forest.

Oh.

THOMAS, his face streaked with tears, looks up at him.

THOMAS:

She was a WHORE!

SHAKESPEARE (stunned):

WHAT?!

THOMAS:

She must have been. She used her wiles to lure me into bed.

He smiles ruefully.

THOMAS:

I say "bed" - it was actually the forest floor.

He puts his arms out, as if pleading with SHAKESPEARE.

THOMAS:

It only happened once. And I didn't know she was pregnant.
I swear it!

For a moment, SHAKESPEARE looks at him questioningly.

SHAKESPEARE:

Alright. I believe you.

THOMAS:

You do?

SHAKESPEARE (nodding):

Yes.

THOMAS smiles.

THOMAS:

Thank you.

As quickly as the smile appeared, it vanishes.

THOMAS:

But what am I going to do? I don't want to be excommunicated! Or flogged!

Finally SHAKESPEARE sits down on the filthy bed, while being careful not to lean back against the filthier wall.

SHAKESPEARE:

Just do what Mr Collins tells you to do - and say what he tells you to say.

THOMAS (nodding):

Right. Of course.

SHAKESPEARE:

And don't worry. I'm sure we can save you from the worst.

THOMAS smiles at him, his eyes full of gratitude.

THOMAS:

Thank you, Will. (Pause.) Thank you, Father!

SHAKESPEARE looks surprised, then smiles back at him.

48. INT. SHAKESPEARE'S STUDY. DAY.

SHAKESPEARE is standing by the window, idly looking out, when there is a gentle knocking at the door.

Come in.

MR COLLINS enters, carrying his bag, and SHAKESPEARE smiles.

SHAKESPEARE:

Ah, Mr Collins. I'm delighted to see you. Are we all set for tomorrow?

MR COLLINS:

Yes, I think we can mount a strong defence, especially with you testifying on his behalf.

SHAKESPEARE nods, approvingly.

MR COLLINS:

But there is something I must bring to your attention before the trial.

49. INT. COURTROOM. DAY.

THE SHAKESPEARES - WILL, JUDITH, ANNE and JOHN (but obviously not little Elizabeth and her mother, Susanna) - sit next to MR and MRS QUINEY in the public gallery at the back of the court.

They are all looking at THOMAS and MR COLLINS, who are sitting together at a desk near the front of the courtroom.

At the side of the court are A MIDDLE-AGED, SHABBY-LOOKING COUPLE: from their vacant, bloodshot, almost dead eyes, it is apparent they are THE WHEELERS, the parents of the dead girl, Margaret.

SHAKESPEARE stares at them for a moment.

THREE "JUDGES" (in reality, PRIESTS) enter, led by an OFFICIAL.

COURT OFFICIAL:

All rise for the court's verdict.

EVERYONE stands as THE PRIESTS sit down at a raised platform.

THE OLDEST (AND THEREFORE MOST SENIOR) PRIEST addresses THOMAS.

SENIOR PRIEST:

Thomas Quiney, you are found guilty of the charge of having unlawful carnal relations.

THE SHAKESPEARES and QUINEYS look horrified, while THE WHEELERS look absolutely delighted.

SENIOR PRIEST (continuing):

Ordinarily I would impose a severe punishment, one involving public penance.

THOMAS bows his head.

SENIOR PRIEST:

However, we have borne in mind your previously unblemished reputation, and the fact that your father-in-law, Mr Shakespeare, who has been a true friend to this town in times of need - such as the recent outbreak of plague - testified on your behalf as a character witness.

EVERYONE, including THOMAS, looks round at SHAKESPEARE.

FIRST PRIEST:

For that reason, I have commuted your sentence to a fine of five shillings.

THOMAS, THE SHAKESPEARES and THE QUINEYS (all of them except SHAKESPEARE himself) look amazed, as THE WHEELERS look appalled.

THOMAS:

A fine, your grace?

FIRST PRIEST:

Yes, which must be paid immediately!

MR COLLINS (speaking up):

Your grace, my client's father-in-law, Mr Shakespeare, will pay the fine - immediately.

FIRST PRIEST:

Good. Then the court is dismissed.

He strikes the desk with his gavel and, as quickly as they had arrived, THE PRIESTS leave, followed by THE COURT OFFICIAL.

THOMAS (calling out after them):

Thank you, your graces. Thank you. And God bless you!

THOMAS turns around and is immediately engulfed by FAMILY MEMBERS, both THE SHAKESPEARES and the QUINEYS - all except SHAKESPEARE himself, who hangs back slightly.

Even as JUDITH hugs him, THOMAS continues to look amazed.

THOMAS:

I can't believe I only have to pay a fine - and such a small one!

He looks at SHAKESPEARE.

THOMAS:

This was your doing, wasn't it?

SHAKESPEARE shrugs.

SHAKESPEARE:

Let's just say that in addition to the fine I made a private contribution towards the court's "running costs".

MR COLLINS, who is putting his papers away in his bag, smiles.

THOMAS:

Thank you.

SHAKESPEARE:

You're welcome.

THOMAS:

We must celebrate!

"Celebrate"? Celebrate what?

THOMAS:

Why, my freedom!

SHAKESPEARE nods, belatedly understanding.

SHAKESPEARE:

Of course.

He glances at MR COLLINS, who is still standing by the desk.

SHAKESPEARE (to THOMAS):

You go ahead. I have to pay your fine and I also have some business to settle with Mr Collins.

THOMAS (nodding):

Of course.

THOMAS:

And thank you too, Mr Collins.

JUDITH (to MR COLLINS):

Yes, thank you.

MR COLLINS:

You are both most welcome.

SHAKESPEARE comes forward until he is alongside THOMAS.

SHAKESPEARE:

After you've finished "celebrating", come and see me tomorrow morning.

THOMAS looks surprised.

THOMAS:

What for?

SHAKESPEARE:

We need to discuss the future.

THOMAS nods.

THOMAS:

Of course. I'll come first thing.

THOMAS leads JUDITH and THE REST OF THE SHAKESPEARES and QUINEYS towards the back door.

THE WHEELERS, with MRS WHEELER weeping, leave through a side door: SHAKESPEARE watches them go out, then looks at MR COLLINS and shakes his head.

50. INT. SHAKESPEARE'S STUDY. DAY.

SHAKESPEARE is sitting at his desk: he is not reading or writing but simply staring at the door, when there is a knock.

Come in.

THOMAS enters, looking dishevelled and sickly (i.e. hungover).

SHAKESPEARE:

Ah, Thomas. Thank you for coming.

THOMAS comes in and slumps in the chair in front of the desk.

SHAKESPEARE:

I trust you had an enjoyable evening.

THOMAS:

Yes. We were at my Father's house. (Pause and smile.)
You should have come.

SHAKESPEARE:

As I said yesterday, I had some business to attend to with Mr Collins. In fact, that is why I wanted to see you now.

THOMAS:

Oh, yes?

SHAKESPEARE (nodding):

Yes. You see, Mr Collins found out the truth about you and Margaret Wheeler.

THOMAS:

I told you the truth.

Slowly, SHAKESPEARE shakes his head.

SHAKESPEARE:

No, you didn't. Mr Collins found out that far from being a "whore", as you described her, Margaret Wheeler was, in fact, the innocent daughter of a woodcutter from Arden. He also found out that, far from encountering her only the once, as you said, you encountered her several times; that, in fact, you were well known to her and her family; that, in fact, you were as good as engaged to her and it was only when she became pregnant - a development you definitely knew about - that you turned your attention to Judith, a woman with none of Margaret's innate natural beauty but an infinitely larger dowry.

THOMAS looks as if he might be sick - literally.

THOMAS:

I can explain -

SHAKESPEARE (interrupting):

There's no need to. I know everything!

He smiles, ruefully.

SHAKESPEARE:

You should be grateful that the ecclesiastical court and its officials are not as assiduous in the gathering of evidence as Mr Collins is. Otherwise, they would have uncovered the truth themselves and I would have been powerless to prevent you from being flogged and excommunicated.

THOMAS:

Why did you prevent me from being flogged and excommunicated? (He lowers his head.) It's what I deserve.

SHAKESPEARE (nodding):

It is what you deserve, but I couldn't bear the thought of Judith watching her husband - her husband of less than a month! - being publicly humiliated! (Pause.) Besides, I couldn't bear the thought of watching another family member being paraded through the streets.

THOMAS (looking confused):

What?

SHAKESPEARE (abruptly):

No matter. So instead, I have settled on a private punishment.

THOMAS (fearfully):

What are you going to do?

SHAKESPEARE:

I know what I would like to do. I would like to cast you out: to terminate your marriage to my daughter and demand the repayment of her dowry.

THOMAS looks even more fearful.

SHAKESPEARE:

But I cannot do that. You were married in church - in the eyes of God! - and however much I would like to, I cannot "tear you asunder".

THOMAS looks a little relieved.

SHAKESPEARE:

However, I can - indeed, I will - prevent you from getting your hands on any more of my money, or Judith's.

THOMAS (looking appalled):

How?

SHAKESPEARE:

I have altered the terms of my will, to ensure that Judith's inheritance will go to her and her alone; that, in the event of your abandoning her as you abandoned Margaret Wheeler, you will not receive a penny from my estate; that, in short, you are no longer legally, or perhaps I should say financially, part of the family.

THOMAS looks horrified.

SHAKESPEARE:

Now, if you will excuse me, there are a number of other people I need to see.

He gets up and goes towards the door.

THOMAS watches him go out, then slumps back fully in his seat.

51. EXT. STREET. DAY.

SHAKESPEARE stands outside a house in Stratford high street: he waits for a moment, then starts hammering on the front door.

The door is answered by RICHARD QUINEY, who also looks hungover.

RICHARD QUINEY:

Will? What are you doing here?

SHAKESPEARE (ignoring his question):

You knew, didn't you?

RICHARD QUINEY (confused):

What?

SHAKESPEARE (angrily):

About Thomas's relationship with Margaret Wheeler.

RICHARD QUINEY looks as ashamed as his son had earlier.

RICHARD QUINEY:

I didn't "know" -

SHAKESPEARE (interrupting again):

You must have known! He's your son!

RICHARD QUINEY (continuing):

- But I suspected.

SHAKESPEARE looks as if he might hit him.

RICHARD QUINEY:

I wanted to say something - I did, truly - but I knew that Thomas was fond of your daughter -

"Fond"?

SHAKESPEARE looks outraged, but RICHARD keeps going.

RICHARD QUINEY:

So, when they became engaged, I kept quiet.

He bows his head.

RICHARD QUINEY:

I didn't know that Margaret was pregnant.

SHAKESPEARE:

But you knew - or at least "suspected" - that Thomas had had relations with her?

RICHARD bows his head completely and stares at the ground.

RICHARD QUINEY:

I did.

SHAKESPEARE smiles at him coolly - indeed, cruelly.

SHAKESPEARE:

Thank you. Now I can omit all mention of the name "Quiney" from my will.

RICHARD looks horrified, but SHAKESPEARE quickly walks away.

52. INT. THE STUDY, JOHN HALL'S HOUSE. DAY.

A stunned-looking JOHN HALL and SUSANNA sit opposite SHAKESPEARE.

SHAKESPEARE:

So, John, you will be the chief executor of my will.

JOHN HALL (nodding):

Yes. (Pause.) Thank you.

SHAKESPEARE:

As such, you must ensure that Judith is not preyed on by her so-called "husband" or any other fortune-hunter she may have the misfortune to encounter in the future.

JOHN HALL (nodding):

Yes. Of course.

SHAKESPEARE stands up.

SHAKESPEARE:

Good. Now I just have to tell Judith herself.

He stands up and is just about to go out when he sees little ELIZABETH standing in the doorway.

ELIZABETH:

Where are you going, Grandfather?

She looks up at him, smiling angelically.

Won't you stay and play?

SHAKESPEARE (shaking his head):

No, I'm afraid not, my dear. I would like to - truly, I would - but I have some important business to attend to.

He goes, leaving ELIZABETH and her PARENTS looking perplexed.

53. EXT. STREET OUTSIDE THOMAS AND JUDITH'S HOUSE. DAY.

SHAKESPEARE knocks on the door and it is opened instantly.

JUDITH is standing in the doorway, with reddened eyes: without saying a word, she turns around and goes back inside.

SHAKESPEARE follows her in and pulls the door shut behind him.

54. INT. HALLWAY, THOMAS AND JUDITH'S HOUSE. DAY.

JUDITH sits down at the bottom of the staircase and SHAKESPEARE comes over and stands in front of her.

Where is he?

JUDITH (without looking up):

He's gone to the alehouse.

SHAKESPEARE:

"The alehouse"?

JUDITH (nodding):

Yes. He said he wanted to "get drunk" and "forget" his problems.

She shakes her head in disgust.

JUDITH:

I wish I could forget mine.

SHAKESPEARE:

I assume he told you what I - or rather, Mr Collins - discovered.

JUDITH (nodding):

Yes. He told me everything.

SHAKESPEARE sits down beside her and as he does so she immediately throws her arms around him and starts to cry.

JUDITH:

Oh, Father, I've been such a fool!

SHAKESPEARE:

No, you haven't. You've been fooled - there's a world of difference.

JUDITH (shaking her head):

No, there isn't. (Pause.) I knew what Thomas was like.

SHAKESPEARE looks at her in amazement.

SHAKESPEARE:

You did?

JUDITH nods her head, even as she continues to cry.

JUDITH:

Yes. I knew about Margaret - well, I knew there was someone like Margaret, even if I didn't know her name - and all the other women before her!

SHAKESPEARE looks even more amazed.

SHAKESPEARE:

There were others?

JUDITH:

Well, there were rumours there were others - many others. But I'd waited so long to get married and I was so desperate to get married - so that I wouldn't die an old maid! - that I ignored them.

She looks at him, the tears pouring from her eyes.

JUDITH:

I thought, "If I don't marry Thomas, I'll never marry".

Finally she slumps against him, weeping uncontrollably.

JUDITH:

Now I wish I had never married.

SHAKESPEARE holds her, but does not look down at her: instead, he looks off, in a daze, into the distance.

55. INT. DOWNSTAIRS HALLWAY, SHAKESPEARE'S HOUSE. NIGHT.

SHAKESPEARE comes in to find ANNE waiting for him.

He closes the front door behind him and leans back against it, looking exhausted - and old.

ANNE stares at him and he stares back at her.

SHAKESPEARE:

I assume you know what's happened.

ANNE (nodding):

Yes. Susanna came to see me after you had visited her and John.

She looks at him accusingly.

ANNE:

You should have told me first.

SHAKESPEARE looks surprised, then slowly nods his head.

SHAKESPEARE:

You're right. I should have.

ANNE:

Mind you, I'm not surprised you didn't. You never tell me anything: I always have to hear things second hand!

SHAKESPEARE looks even more surprised.

How was Susanna?

ANNE:

Shocked, as you can imagine. (Pause.) We all are.

Suddenly SHAKESPEARE looks angry again.

SHAKESPEARE:

Damn him!

ANNE continues to stare at him as he grows increasingly angry.

SHAKESPEARE:

He has ruined Judith's life - he has ruined all our lives!

He stops leaning against the door and stands up straight.

SHAKESPEARE:

I hope he goes to HELL!

ANNE:

Hypocrite!

SHAKESPEARE looks at her in surprise.

What?

ANNE (firmly):

You heard me - you're a hypocrite.

SHAKESPEARE continues to look surprised.

SHAKESPEARE:

What do you mean?

ANNE:

At least Thomas only slept with one other woman. You slept with dozens!

ANNE:

*And, like most men, he only did it before he got married.
You did it after you were married!*

Now SHAKESPEARE looks at her in disbelief.

SHAKESPEARE:

What on earth are you talking about?

ANNE:

You know what I'm talking about.

SHAKESPEARE:

I don't - truly!

ANNE looks at him contemptuously.

ANNE:

I'm talking about all the whores you slept with in London.

SHAKESPEARE shakes his head, wildly.

SHAKESPEARE:

That's not true.

ANNE (angrily):

Don't deny it! I know what happened in London - I always knew!

She fixes him with a penetrating gaze.

ANNE:

Whenever you returned from London - on the few occasions that you returned from London - you never came near me.

She laughs, ruefully.

ANNE:

I used to wonder, "How is it that Will - my beloved Will, who before he left Stratford could never keep away from me - now refuses to touch me?"

Once again, she looks at him accusingly.

ANNE:

Then I realised. He was touching somebody else - anybody else, but me.

SHAKESPEARE looks horrified.

ANNE:

So don't condemn Thomas to an eternity of damnation, or else you condemn yourself!

She turns and walks quickly upstairs.

SHAKESPEARE remains standing there for a moment, then slumps back against the front door, as if for support.

Fade to:

BLACK.

A caption appears - "APRIL" - accompanied by the sound of raucous, drunken laughter.

Fade up to:

56. INT. TAVERN. NIGHT.

A solemn-looking SHAKESPEARE enters a tavern: he looks around at all the HAPPY, DRUNK PEOPLE, then someone calls out to him.

MAN (VOICE OFF):

Will! Will!

SHAKESPEARE looks in the direction the voice had come from and sees, at a table beside a window, a jowly, moustachioed, middle-aged MAN signalling to him to come over.

MAN:

Over here!

SHAKESPEARE walks over to the table and as he does so THE MAN signals to a passing WAITER to bring them two drinks.

Hello, Drayton.

THE MAN - MICHAEL DRAYTON - stands up and smiles, then shakes SHAKESPEARE's hand and indicates an empty chair beside him.

They both sit down.

DRAYTON:

I'm glad you could come.

SHAKESPEARE:

I'm glad to get out of Stratford. (Pause and grimace.) All the gossip and tittle-tattle was driving me mad!

DRAYTON (nodding his head):

Yes, I heard about your predicament, which is why I invited you.

He smiles at SHAKESPEARE warmly.

DRAYTON:

I thought a little literary discussion with a fellow poet might take your mind off things, at least for a few hours.

SHAKESPEARE snorts dismissively.

SHAKESPEARE:

Literature is the last thing I want to talk about.

DRAYTON looks surprised.

DRAYTON:

Why do you say that?

SHAKESPEARE:

Because literature - writing - is the reason I'm in this "predicament".

DRAYTON:

I don't understand.

SHAKESPEARE:

If I hadn't spent so long in London writing, I might have realised that sweet Thomas Quiney, who I had known since he was a boy, had grown up to become a liar and a blackguard!

THE WAITER brings two large tankards of ale and sets them down carefully on the table: SHAKESPEARE immediately picks one up.

SHAKESPEARE:

So I don't want to talk about "literature". In fact, I don't want to talk at all!

He looks appreciatively at his tankard.

SHAKESPEARE:

I just want to drink!

He duly begins to drink: in fact, he downs his ale "in one".

Then he sighs loudly, as DRAYTON continues to stare at him.

Suddenly ANOTHER MAN'S voice - a loud, booming voice - is heard.

MAN (VOICE OFF):

DRAYTON!

Both DRAYTON and SHAKESPEARE turn round and look in the direction the voice had come from.

On the other side of the tavern, by the doorway, is a large, barrel-chested MAN WITH RED HAIR.

He looks at them and smiles, with his hand raised in greeting.

In complete contrast, SHAKESPEARE looks horrified to see him.

Jonson?

He turns back round and looks at DRAYTON accusingly.

SHAKESPEARE:

What's he doing here?

DRAYTON (with a shrug):

I invited him too.

SHAKESPEARE:

All the way from London?

DRAYTON (with another shrug):

He wrote to me saying that he needed some respite from the capital - and from court - so I invited him to come and stay with me.

SHAKESPEARE does not look convinced by this explanation.

Before he can say anything, however, JONSON has joined them.

He greets DRAYTON warmly, shaking his hand.

JONSON:

Michael! It's a pleasure to see you.

DRAYTON:

Hello, Ben. Welcome to Warwickshire!

Then JONSON turns to face SHAKESPEARE and puts out his hand.

JONSON (smiling):

And it's a pleasure to see you too, Will.

SHAKESPEARE does not take his hand but looks up at him angrily.

SHAKESPEARE:

What are you doing here, Jonson? (Pause.) Have you come to gloat?

JONSON looks bewildered.

JONSON:

"Gloat"? About what?

SHAKESPEARE:

My "misfortune".

He continues to look up at JONSON accusingly.

SHAKESPEARE:

I'm sure you've heard about it, even in London. (Pause.)
Everyone else has!

Finally JONSON realises what SHAKESPEARE means.

JONSON:

Oh, that!

Quickly, he shakes his head.

JONSON:

I wouldn't gloat about that.

SHAKESPEARE (bitterly):

Why not? Everyone else is.

He adopts different voices as he "recounts" what has been said.

SHAKESPEARE:

"Will Shakespeare's had his come-uppance." "Serves him right, for getting above his station." "He should never have left home and gone to London! That's why his family went to ruin!"

JONSON stares down at him intently, then slowly shakes his head.

JONSON:

No, Will. I would never "gloat" about another man's misfortune - especially not yours.

Suddenly he looks at SHAKESPEARE affectionately.

JONSON:

We may be "rivals" on stage, but we are friends off it. And as your friend, I feel only sorrow and pity for you at this difficult time.

SHAKESPEARE looks surprised, even touched, by this declaration: then, instantaneously, he laughs and tries to dismiss it.

SHAKESPEARE:

Then buy your "friend" a drink. (Pause.) God knows he needs it!

JONSON and DRAYTON both laugh, and JONSON signals to the waiter to bring three more tankards of ale.

SHAKESPEARE looks up at JONSON for a moment, then looks away at the wheat-field outside, which is gently billowing in the wind.

THE WAITER is putting chairs on tables and SHAKESPEARE, JONSON and DRAYTON stand, or rather drunkenly sway, by the entrance.

DRAYTON (to SHAKESPEARE):

Where's your horse?

SHAKESPEARE (slurring his words):

I didn't bring a horsh.

DRAYTON looks at him in amazement.

DRAYTON:

But it's five miles back to Stratford!

SHAKESPEARE:

So? I'll walk! (Smile.) I walked here and I'll walk back.

He takes a step forward, but is so drunk he nearly falls over.

DRAYTON helps him to stand upright.

DRAYTON:

Stay with me tonight and walk home in the morning.

JONSON:

Yes. Stay with us, Will.

He beams at SHAKESPEARE.

JONSON:

We can continue drinking at Drayton's house.

SHAKESPEARE shakes his head.

SHAKESPEARE:

No. I've had enough for one night.

Suddenly he looks up at the millions of twinkling stars above.

Besides, it's a bright, starlit night.

He smiles.

SHAKESPEARE:

I shall enjoy a little stroll!

And with that, he begins walking away from the tavern.

JONSON and DRAYTON watch him go, then call out.

JONSON:

Goodnight, Will.

DRAYTON:

Take care.

SHAKESPEARE turns round to face the tavern and waves to them.

SHAKESPEARE:

Goodnight, good fellows.

He turns back round to face the road and continues walking.

58. INT. DOWNSTAIRS HALLWAY, SHAKESPEARE'S HOUSE. DAY.

There is a loud knocking at the front door.

SUSANNA hurries down the stairs, looking anxious.

She goes to the door, opens it and her husband, JOHN HALL, is standing there, holding his small leather doctor's bag.

SUSANNA:

Oh, John. Thank God you've come.

DOCTOR HALL:

I was with a patient - I came as soon as I received word.
What is it?

SUSANNA:

It's my father. He's sick.

"Sick"?

SUSANNA (nodding, furiously):

Yes. Apparently, he went out drinking last night -

DOCTOR HALL (interrupting):

Well, if he will drink the devil's liquor, the next morning he will have the devil's head!

SUSANNA (shaking her head, furiously):

No, you don't understand. He has a fever!

DOCTOR HALL stares at her.

DOCTOR HALL:

A fever?

SUSANNA (nodding):

Yes.

He turns towards the stairs, when she suddenly grabs his arm.

SUSANNA:

Oh, John, you have to help him.

DOCTOR HALL (firmly):

I will do all I can.

He starts going upstairs and SUSANNA follows behind him.

59. INT. SHAKESPEARE'S BEDROOM. DAY.

SHAKESPEARE is in bed, shivering, with his eyes closed; his face is covered with sweat; and his skin is red and blotchy.

Beside him, ANNE is squeezing out a grubby, sweat-soaked cloth into a bowl, before applying it again to his forehead.

SUSANNA is standing to one side, barely able to watch, while DOCTOR HALL stares down at SHAKESPEARE from the end of the bed.

Suddenly the door opens and JUDITH comes in.

She stands at the end of the bed and looks down at SHAKESPEARE.

Father!

She turns to DOCTOR HALL, her brother-in-law.

JUDITH:

He looks awful!

DOCTOR HALL (nodding):

Yes, he does. I'm afraid the fever has taken hold.

Really?

DOCTOR HALL (nodding):

Yes. If his spirits had been at their normal, irrepressible level, he might have been able to resist it, but - well, recent events seem to have crushed his spirits.

JUDITH looks even more horrified.

Suddenly SHAKESPEARE opens his eyes slightly.

SHAKESPEARE (feebly):

I'm so hot.

ANNE (nodding):

I know.

SHAKESPEARE (equally feebly):

Am I in hell?

ANNE (shaking her head vigorously):

No, of course not. You're not going to hell. You're a good man, Will - a great man!

Slowly, and with obvious effort, SHAKESPEARE shakes his head.

SHAKESPEARE (quietly):

I am not.

He closes his eyes again and ANNE immediately resumes her slow, careful, methodical mopping of his brow.

JUDITH and SUSANNA both cry, as DOCTOR HALL looks on helplessly.

60. EXT. STREET OUTSIDE SHAKESPEARE'S HOUSE. DAY.

HEMINGS, CONDELL, and DR HALL, all of them in black, lead THE OTHER PALLBEARERS as they carry the coffin out of the house.

They are followed by ANNE, SUSANNA, ELIZABETH and JUDITH, who are also all in black.

DRAYTON and JONSON follow SHAKESPEARE'S FAMILY, looking embarrassed to be there - even, perhaps, a little guilty.

THE PALLBEARERS stop to adjust the weight of the coffin.

Then they walk on towards the church, the steeple of which is just visible in the distance.

61. INT. CHURCH. DAY.

THE PALLBEARERS set the coffin down in front of the altar.

As the PRIEST comes forward towards the coffin, the PALLBEARERS all take a step back and then take their places in the pews.

HEMINGS and CONDELL watch the PRIEST stand over the coffin.

HEMINGS (quietly):

Apparently, he will be buried directly in front of the altar.

CONDELL (equally quietly):

That's appropriate.

HEMINGS (quietly):

How so?

CONDELL (equally quietly):

Well, whatever his protestations to the contrary, Will always enjoyed being the centre of attention.

HEMINGS smiles.

62. INT. DINING ROOM, SHAKESPEARE'S HOUSE. DAY.

HEMINGS, CONDELL, DRAYTON, JONSON and SEVERAL OTHER MOURNERS sit at the table: food has been laid out, but nobody is eating.

There is total silence, until HEMINGS whispers to CONDELL.

HEMINGS:

I still can't believe it.

CONDELL (equally quietly):

I know. I can't either. Less than two months ago, we were sitting here celebrating his daughter's wedding.

HEMINGS nods solemnly and again there is silence for a moment.

HEMINGS (quietly):

It's not right.

CONDELL (equally quietly):

What isn't?

HEMINGS (quietly):

The cause of death! (Pause.) Will survived fire, plague, even becoming involved in a plot against the Queen, and then - finally! - a fever finishes him off.

CONDELL (equally quietly):

I know. 'Tis not a fitting end.

HEMINGS nods and the dining room is quiet once more, apart from the faint sound of crying somewhere else in the house.

Fade to:

BLACK.

A caption appears - "MAY" - accompanied by the sound of a piece of paper being unfurled.

Fade up to:

63. INT. BACKSTAGE OFFICE, THE GLOBE THEATRE. DAY.

CONDELL sits at the desk, holding the letter he has opened, and reads it to HEMINGS, who stands in front of him: through the open door, the tiled roof of the rebuilt Globe can just be seen.

CONDELL (reading):

"...And finally, I give to my fellows Richard Burbage, John Hemings and Henry Condell twenty-six shillings and eight pence apiece to buy them mourning rings."

He finishes reading and puts the letter down on the desk.

HEMINGS stares at him, then at the letter.

"Mourning rings"?

CONDELL nods.

HEMINGS:

That's how he wants us to remember him?

CONDELL (with a shrug):

Apparently.

HEMINGS shakes his head in disbelief and looks away.

HIS POINT OF VIEW:

The tiny, cramped office is, as ever, stuffed full of props and costumes, but now we see - for the very first time - that it is also full of scripts.

The scripts are scattered around the room: some are stacked on bookshelves; some have been shoved unceremoniously into drawers; and others are just piled up on the floor.

HEMINGS looks at them all, then looks back at CONDELL.

HEMINGS:

I have a better idea.

CONDELL:

What's that?

HEMINGS:

We'll publish his plays.

CONDELL looks at him in amazement.

CONDELL:

What?

HEMINGS:

Why not? If Ben Jonson can publish his plays -

CONDELL (interrupting):

Jonson's publishing his plays?

HEMINGS (nodding):

Aye. All of them, in a "Collected Works".

CONDELL:

But why? The bulk of his audience can no more read than ours can.

HEMINGS:

Apparently, it's to "preserve them for posterity, like the plays of the Ancients - the Greeks and Romans".

HEMINGS:

So, if he can publish his plays, why can't we publish Will's?

CONDELL:

Because we don't even have copies of some of Will's plays, especially the early ones.

HEMINGS looks horrified.

What? (Pause.) Why not?

CONDELL:

They must have been destroyed in the fire, or just lost over time, most likely when we moved theatres.

HEMINGS looks even more horrified.

CONDELL:

As for the plays we do have copies of, most of them are just old prompt-books.

So?

CONDELL:

So they've been scribbled on and scribbled on until they're virtually illegible!

"Illegible"?

CONDELL (nodding):

Aye. Will could decipher them, but we can't.

HEMINGS looks even more distressed.

CONDELL:

While Will was alive, it didn't matter: if we had any questions about a play, we could just ask him, even if we had to wait until he visited London. But now - well, we can't ask him!

HEMINGS looks at him, pleadingly.

I'm sure that, given time, we could "decipher" them and prepare them for publication.

CONDELL:

It would take an age - years, at least - especially when we've still got a theatre to run.

HEMINGS (smiling):

So? What are a few years compared with immortality?

CONDELL looks at him sceptically.

CONDELL:

Whose immortality? His, or ours?

HEMINGS looks upset, even offended.

HEMINGS:

Why, his of course!

CONDELL doesn't look convinced: instead, he sighs heavily.

CONDELL:

The truth is that over the years we've probably paid more attention to preserving the company's props and costumes than we have Will's plays. (Pause.) Now the best that we can do is to print those plays that we have fair copies of, which is about half of them.

HEMINGS looks at him in disbelief.

"Half"?

CONDELL:

That's still about twenty or so.

HEMINGS shakes his head angrily.

HEMINGS:

It's not enough! Half a Shakespeare is no Shakespeare at all - half a Shakespeare is a Jonson, or a Marlowe!

Suddenly he stops shaking his head.

We have to show the whole man, to show what one man is capable of.

He stares at CONDELL.

HEMINGS:

We have to do it.

CONDELL:

Do what?

HEMINGS (smiling):

Print the plays - all the plays, with all the right words.

Once again, CONDELL stares at him in amazement.

CONDELL:

Are you mad? I've just told you: we don't even have copies of some of the plays.

HEMINGS:

Then we'll find them. They must exist somewhere.

CONDELL looks even more amazed.

CONDELL:

And where exactly do you propose looking for them?

HEMINGS (triumphantly):

EVERYWHERE!

64. INT. ROOM. DAY.

AN OLD LADY (who is obviously a landlady) opens the door and leads HEMINGS and CONDELL into a dingy, little room, which has only a bed, a desk and a chair for furniture.

She steps aside to let HEMINGS and CONDELL look inside.

HEMINGS (VOICE OFF):

"Everywhere he ever lived..."

HEMINGS and CONDELL start looking around (HEMINGS kneels down to look under the bed) while the OLD LADY watches them curiously.

65. EXT. STREET. DAY.

HEMINGS and CONDELL stand outside a derelict theatre.

HEMINGS (VOICE OFF):

"Everywhere he ever worked..."

66. INT. TAVERN. DAY.

HEMINGS and CONDELL are at the bar, talking to the TAVERN-OWNER.

HEMINGS (VOICE OFF):

"And most importantly, everywhere he ever drank..."

THE TAVERN-OWNER directs their attention towards the staircase.

HEMINGS (VOICE OFF):

"And laid his head..."

THEIR POINT OF VIEW:

THE MADAM (suitably attired) who runs the "bawdy house" (or brothel) is at the top of the stairs, smiling down at them.

HEMINGS (VOICE OFF):

"Or any other part of his anatomy."

Slowly, HEMINGS and CONDELL start walking upstairs.

67. INT/EXT. THE STAGE OF THE GLOBE. DAY.

HEMINGS and CONDELL walk out onto the new stage of the new Globe.

HEMINGS (VOICE OFF):

"Then, when we've found the missing plays, we'll check all the plays to make sure that nothing has been added or omitted."

CONDELL (VOICE OFF, and sounding alarmed):

"And how do you propose doing that?"

HEMINGS and CONDELL reach the front of the stage and look down, seeing that the Groundlings' area in front of the stage is full not of Groundlings but ACTORS - about a hundred of them in total.

HEMINGS (VOICE OFF):

"By gathering together all the actors who ever appeared in a Shakespeare play, or at least those who are still alive, and going through their parts with them, line by line, to make sure that they're correct."

The ACTORS are of all ages, from APPRENTICES (some aged only about 10) to VETERANS (including the ACTOR WHO HAD PLAYED A LORD in the Henry IV plays years before and asked Hemings for a drink).

68. INT. BACKSTAGE OFFICE OF THE GLOBE. DAY.

SIX MIDDLE-AGED, BESPECTACLED MEN are crowded round the desk, staring at the scripts laid out on top of it.

HEMINGS (VOICE OFF):

"Some of the actors would have been employed as book-holders, or prompters, so we can get them to go through the prompt-books to decipher all the notes and stage directions that they added over the years."

THE SIX MEN - the surviving PROMPTERS - study the scripts, either leaning in close to the desk or lifting them up to their eyes.

69. INT. BEDROOM. DAY.

HEMINGS and CONDELL are sitting beside a bed.

HEMINGS (VOICE OFF):

"And of course, there is one actor who knows the plays, or at least the title roles, almost as well as Will himself."

Lying in the bed, looking sickly (it may well be his deathbed), is BURBAGE.

A script is laid out in front of BURBAGE and (with great effort) he stretches out a hand to touch it: as he does so, his mourning ring - a small ring, with a skull on it, which he wears on his left little finger, next to his wedding ring - is clearly visible.

It is identical to those of HEMINGS and CONDELL, which are also visible for the first time next to their wedding rings, as CONDELL holds a quill and HEMINGS rests his hands on the bed.

BURBAGE points to a line in the script and shakes his head, so CONDELL leans forward and, with the quill, scratches it out.

HEMINGS (VOICE OFF):

"After all, Burbage always thought that they were his plays, not Will's!"

CONDELL (laughing):

"Typical actor!"

70. INT. SHOP. DAY.

CONDELL sits at a desk, while HEMINGS leans over him, and BOTH MEN read a piece of paper laid out on the desk in front of them.

HEMINGS (VOICE OFF):

"Finally, we just have to find someone to write a dedication.
And who better than England's greatest living playwright?"

HEMINGS and CONDELL both finish reading and look up and around: standing next to them, studying them, is BEN JONSON.

HEMINGS (smiling):

It's wonderful, Ben.

CONDELL (nodding):

Yes, especially the line, "He was not of an age, but for all time".

JONSON smiles ruefully.

BEN JONSON:

I suspect it's what I'll be best remembered for!

HEMINGS and CONDELL laugh, but JONSON suddenly stops smiling.

BEN JONSON:

I ought to have written a dedication in honour of you two.

HEMINGS and CONDELL look confused.

HEMINGS:

What do you mean?

BEN JONSON:

Well, Will may have written the plays, but you're the ones who found them, edited them and prepared them for publication.

HEMINGS (dismissively):

It wasn't that difficult.

CONDELL:

Not once we got started.

JONSON stares at them in disbelief.

JONSON:

Gentlemen, you amaze me!

Again, HEMINGS and CONDELL both look surprised.

HEMINGS:

How so?

JONSON:

You make light of what you've done, but the truth is that most men wouldn't spend so much time, money and effort publishing their own plays, let alone someone else's. (He scowls.) I can't imagine that anyone would do it for me!

He stops scowling and looks at them questioningly.

JONSON:

So why did you do it for Will?

HEMINGS and CONDELL exchange a glance, then smile at JONSON.

HEMINGS:

He did so much for us.

CONDELL:

It was the least we could do for him.

JONSON considers this for a moment, then nods in acknowledgement.

MAN:

The title-page is ready. Shall I proceed?

HEMINGS AND CONDELL (together):

Please.

HEMINGS and CONDELL follow the MAN and for the first time it is apparent they are in a print shop: all around them (literally all around their heads), printed pages are hanging up to dry.

THE MAN, who is obviously a PRINTER, takes hold of the handle of a printing press with both hands: he presses the handle down, holding it in place for a moment before slowly releasing it. Then, very carefully (so as not to smudge the ink), he picks up the page he has printed and shows it to HEMINGS and CONDELL.

THEIR POINT OF VIEW:

It is dominated by the famous engraved portrait of Shakespeare that shows his bald head, thinning beard and piercing eyes, which seem to stare out from the page.

Above it are the words: "Mr William Shakespeare's Comedies, Histories and Tragedies, Published according to the true original copies."

Below it are the words: "London. Printed by Isaac Jaggard and Edward Blount, 1623."

HEMINGS and CONDELL both smile broadly.

Fade to:

BLACK.

The screen remains black for a moment, then a caption appears:
"IT TOOK HEMINGS AND CONDELL SEVEN YEARS TO PRODUCE THE FIRST FOLIO - THE FIRST COMPLETE (OR NEARLY COMPLETE) COLLECTION OF SHAKESPEARE'S PLAYS."

Another caption appears: "WITHOUT THE FIRST FOLIO, HALF OF SHAKESPEARE'S PLAYS, INCLUDING CLASSICS SUCH AS 'MACBETH', 'THE TEMPEST' AND 'ANTONY AND CLEOPATRA', WOULD NOT HAVE SURVIVED AT ALL AND THE OTHER HALF WOULD HAVE BEEN AT BEST INCOMPLETE, AT WORST INCOMPREHENSIBLE."

Another caption appears: "WITHOUT HEMINGS AND CONDELL, THE MAN WE KNOW AS 'SHAKESPEARE' - THE GREATEST WRITER EVER - WOULD NOT EXIST."

Another caption appears: "IN THEIR PREFACE TO THE FIRST FOLIO, HEMINGS AND CONDELL WROTE THAT THEY HAD ONLY PUBLISHED SHAKESPEARE'S PLAYS BECAUSE HE HAD DIED BEFORE HE COULD PUBLISH THEM HIMSELF."

The final caption appears: "THEY ALSO WROTE: 'WE HAVE BUT COLLECTED THE PLAYS AND DONE OUR OFFICES TO THE DEAD WITHOUT AMBITION EITHER OF SELF PROFIT OR FAME, ONLY TO KEEP THE MEMORY OF SO WORTHY A FRIEND AND FELLOW ALIVE AS WAS OUR SHAKESPEARE'."

The final caption slowly fades out to:

BLACK.
